The Union Pacific Railroad—Report of Special Commission—The Indian War—Dispatch from Gen. Sherman—Gen. Sheridan Compliments Gen. Custar.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, December 2, 1868.

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The report of the Commissioners on the Union Pacific Railroad estimates that for the complete equipment of the line to Salt Lake additional locomotives, cars, &c., and for stone structures, several millions of dollars may be required. It will be recollected that some months ago this Railroad Company voted to put $3,000,000 of its own first mortgage bonds in trust for this purpose. The Government now owes the Company $4,400,000 for the road already completed. The Company has expended six million dollars for grading, rails and other supplies beyond the nine hundred and forty miles already finished.

THE INDIAN WAR—DISPATCH FROM GEN. SHERMAN.

The following was received this evening by telegraph from St. Louis, dated December 2d:

To Gen. E. D. Townsend, A. A. G.: The following dispatch is just received, and is sent for the information of the Department. I understand General Sheridan's supply depot to be on Rabbit Ear Creek, a little west of south from Fort Dodge, whence he can direct operations, and his very presence there will give assurance that the troops will act with energy, and that nothing will be done but what is right. The bands of Black Kettle, Little Raven and Satana are well known to us, and are the same that have been along Smoky Hill for the past five years, and, as Gen. Sheridan reports, embrace the very same men who first began this war on the Saline and Solomon rivers.

(Signed.) W. T. SHERMAN, Lieutenant General.

General Sheridan's report is annexed.

General Sheridan has issued field orders number six, in which he thanks his troops and congratulates Gen. Custar in his recent victory over the Indians.

The following property was captured at the Indian village: 875 ponies, 1,123 Buffalo robes and skins, 535 pounds powder, 1,050 pounds lead, 4,000 arrows, 700 pounds tobacco, besides rifles, pistols, bows, lariets and an immense quantity of dried meat and other provisions.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMISSION.

The report of the Special Commission appointed by the President to examine the Union Pacific Railroad closes as follows: Taken as a whole the Union Pacific Railroad has been well constructed. The general route for the line is exceedingly well selected, crossing the Rocky Mountain range at some of the most favorable passes on the continent, and possessing capabilities for easy grades and favorable alignment unsurpassed by any other railroad line on similar elevated ground. The energy and perseverance with which the work has been urged forward, and the rapidity with which it has been executed, are without parallel in history. In grandeur and grand magnitude of undertaking it has never been equalled, and no other line compares with this. The arid and barren character of much of the country it traverses has given rise to unusual inconveniences and difficulties, and imposing the necessity of obtaining almost every requisite of material and labor and supplies for its construction from the extreme initial point of its commencement. Deficiencies exist, but they are almost without exception those incident to all new roads, or of a character growing out of the peculiar difficulties encountered, or inseparably connected with the unexampled progress of the work. A matter of the greatest importance and highly creditable to the able managers of the company is, they can all be supplied at an outlay but little exceeding that which would have obviated them in the first instance, but at the cost of materially retarding the progress of the great work. Under the circumstances it is much more a matter of surprise that so few mistakes were made and so few defects exist, than it would be had serious deficiencies been of more frequent occurrence, and the country has reason to congratulate itself that this great work of national importance is so rapidly approaching completion under such favorable auspices. We are, very respectfully, your obedient servants. [Signed,] G. K. Warren, Brevet Maj. Gen. U. S. A.; J. Blickensderfer, Jr., Civil Engineer; James Barnes, C. D., Special Commissioners on the Union Pacific Railroad.

Election Results—Suicide of a Victim to Kleptomania — Police Superintendent Charged With Larceny—Navy Captain in an Insane Asylum.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK December 2, 1868.

Seventeen Democrats and four Republican Assistant Aldermen were elected yesterday. The School Commissioners and Trustees chosen are all Democrats.

Rev. Dr. Littlejohn has accepted the call of the Episcopate of Long Island.

Mrs. Gatewood, who committed suicide yesterday in consequence of having been detected in pilfering, was a native of St. Louis, and related to some most respectable families in that city and New Orleans. A few years ago her husband died, leaving her and a son in indigent circumstances. Since then she has been in constant reception of remittances from a wealthy aunt in New Orleans and a nephew in Paris. Since the loss of her child she has been a victim of kleptomania. Superintendent of Police Kennedy was, to-day, arrested on a warrant, issued by Coroner Flynn, charging him with seizing the property of Mrs. Gatewood without due authority of law. Kennedy claims it was stolen property, and that as such he is justified in seizing it, and denies the right of the Coroner to cause his arrest. The case will be argued to-morrow. Meantime Kennedy is considered technically under arrest.

It is stated Capt. R. W. Meade, U. S. N., has been five five weeks in a lunatic asylum, because he opposed the marriage of his daughter, and that efforts are being made legally to obtain his release.

The Florida Trouble.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

TALLAHASSE, December 2.—The argument in the Supreme Court, on motion of Lieut. Gov. Gleason's counsel to quash the proceedings for want of jurisdiction, concluded to-day, the Court declaring it has jurisdiction. Attorney General Meak offered a motion that the rule nisi be made absolute, whereupon further argument began and lasted until adjournment.

BOARD OF TRADE.

National Convention at Cincinnati—Report of Executive Committee.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, December 2.—The following report of the Executive Committee of the National Board of Trade was read on the assembling of the Convention to-day:

It is almost six months to a day since the representatives of thirty-two Boards of Trade and other commercial bodies in the United States assembled in the city of Philadelphia for the purpose of organizing this National Board. The result of that meeting has been in the main fully approved by the respective bodies in whose behalf the action was taken, and has been warmly commended by the public at large, so far as the proceedings have been made known and have been understood. Our constitution as it stands is calculated to secure for the Board broad nationality, carefully selected representation, full and fair discussion and impartial action. It guards against everything special, sectional or political. It aims to bring thoughtful and practical men together once a year, or oftener, if necessary, to deliberate as business men, and as American business men, upon the financial and industrial capabilities and exigencies of the nation. These leading characteristics of our organization no one, we may be sure, will desire to change.

The Philadelphia meeting was convened, as has been said, for the particular purpose of bringing the Board into existence, and it did not afford opportunity for the examination of many questions of a general commercial character. Positive action, however, was had in favor of a few important measures:

1. The reduction of the tax on whisky to fifty cents a gallon.
2. Direct importations to inland cities.
3. The cental measurement of all products of the soil.
4. The free and unobstructed navigation through its entire length of the Mississippi river.

Memorials were duly addressed to Congress on each of these subjects, but no legislation followed, except in reference to the tax on whisky, which was reduced to the point indicated by the judgment of this Board. The encouragement of direct importations to the interior appears on the official programme of our present proceedings, at the instance of the St. Louis Board of Trade; also, the free navigation of the Mississippi by the notification of the same body. The cental measurement of grain does not appear upon our programme, and it is for the Board to determine whether any and what further action is desirable. A bill, (No. 756,) introduced by the Hon. W. Pruyn, is now pending in the House of Representatives, covering substantially the recommendations of the Boston Convention, which were confirmed at Philadelphia, on this subject. The proposition of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, for a general system of cental measurement, will come up in the same connection. Other questions came up at the Philadelphia meeting which were referred to the Executive Council.

This is the third occasion during the present year when the representatives of commercial associations have been convened to take counsel together in reference to the great material concerns of the nation, and two other commercial conventions have been held, more restricted in the attendance upon them, but of considerable local importance. We meet for the first time, however, as a purely deliberative body, and not as a popular assembly.

In commenting upon the meeting at Portland, last summer, the Commercial Bulletin of Boston used this language: "We thus have another illustration of the entire capability of our business men to discuss and to decide upon great questions of commercial policy. Indeed, we cannot recall a single resolution passed at the conventions of merchants which, within three years past, have been held at Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia and Portland respectively, which, so far as subsequent events have had opportunity to show, has not been eminently sound, wise and worthy of adoption on the part of Congress."

From the regular meetings of this Board, certainly, results no less satisfactory may be anticipated. We have no question of organization, or method of procedure, to divide and perplex our attention, and we are doubtless prepared to consider every question in its broadest relation to the public good. The merchants, the manufacturers, and the active business men of the nation are our constituency, and local commercial bodies vest the authority and influence which they possess as the exponents of commercial opinion in our organization. Let us, therefore, with patience, with impartiality, and with patriotism, devote ourselves to the duties before us in the interest of every section of our common country and of every branch of its varied industry.

On reassembling, the following members were elected Vice Presidents: George S. Hassard, of Buffalo; Robert S. Kirkland, Baltimore; James C. Converse, Boston; Wm. N. Trenholm, Charleston, S. C.; Wm. Egan, Chicago; John A. Gano, Cincinnati; George F. Bagley, Detroit; J. J. Porter, Louisville; Wm. M. Brigham, Milwaukee; George H. Thurston, Pittsburgh; John B. Bunn, Portland, Me.; George O. Stannard, St. Louis; Geo. A. Fosdick, New Orleans.

On the report of the order of business, a motion was made to circumscribe the discussion on any subject to but one speech from each member, and ten minutes only on each subject.

A committee of five on Credentials, with Mr. Randolph, of St. Louis, as chairman, was appointed.

It was moved that two sessions be held per day, each morning session beginning at nine o'clock, with a view of getting through the business by Friday evening.

After accepting an invitation to a supper to be given this evening by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, the Board adjourned until nine A. M. to-morrow.

RECEPTION AT PIKE'S OPERA HOUSE.

The public reception of the delegates to the National Board of Trade at Pike's Opera Hall, this evening, was quite a success. The Hall was beautifully lit and decorated with evergreens. The stage was occupied with the band of the Cincinnati Zouaves, which played several beautiful overtures. At near nine, Mr. Gano, President of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by Mr. Farley, President of the National Board of Trade, ascended to the front and a speech of welcome was pronounced by Mr. Gano, which was responded to by Mr. Farley. After this a promenade concert took place, and the bird's-eye view from the gallery presented a most bright and stirring scene.

—At Milwaukee, Wis., at a late hour on Wednesday night, the Captain of the bark D. P. Dobbins (his name not given) went on board his vessel, and after angry words between himself and wife, he knocked her down, jumped upon her and kicked her in such a terrible manner that she gave premature birth to a child, which the monster seized and threw overboard. He then sent for a doctor and disappeared. The unfortunate woman is in a critical condition. The brute will be arrested.

"Greenbacks for Bonds"—Letter of Senator Morton to the N. Y. World.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, December 2.—The World contains the following letter from Senator Morton, of Indiana:

Washington, November 30.—To the Editor of the World: DEAR SIR—In the New York World of the 28th inst. I find an article, from which I quote the following:

"A telegram to an evening paper states that Senator Morton, soon after the opening of the session, will introduce a bill directing the immediate payment in greenbacks of that portion of the five-twenty bonds issued five years ago. If this report be correct, the course of that Senator on this subject is conspicuous for vacillation. Eight months ago he was an open advocate of the so-called greenback theory. During the Presidential canvass he publicly recanted. If he is now about to propose and advocate such a measure as that described in the telegram, his renunciation must have been a mere political dodge, a feigned surrender of his principles to promote the success of his party."

In the first place, I don't intend to introduce a bill directing the immediate payment in greenbacks of that portion of the 5-20 bonds issued five years ago, and have never said I did to Secretary McCulloch or anybody else. In the next place, I did not during the canvass recant what I said in the Senate in regard to the payment of the 5-20's in greenbacks. No speech by me to that effect has been made. What I urged during the canvass was, that the first duty of the government was to return to specie payments, which, when accomplished, would settle all questions as to the mode of paying the bonds. I further urged that the government had no right to issue new legal tender notes, and make them applicable to the payment of bonds, arguing that such notes could not be made to sustain the same relation to the bonds in law or equity that was sustained by the existing notes, and that the further issue of such notes would indefinitely postpone the return to specie payments. These propositions were fully stated in my speech in the Senate last summer, in which I argued the legal right of the Government to use the legal tender notes in the payment of bonds. I also argued at various times during the canvass, that whatever might be the law on the subject, the Government could not pay the bonds, or any considerable portion, in coin, while the currency remained depreciated, and that the improvement of the currency, by bringing it up to par, was a necessary condition precedent to the payment of the bonds in gold; that if the Government could not procure gold enough to redeem $365,000,000 legal tender notes, it was folly to talk about paying bonds in gold; that the question of the mode of paying the bonds will become important only by the continuance of a depraved currency, without taking steps to improve it; that to take the surplus gold in the Treasury and apply it to the purchase of bonds in the market, which will not fall due for fourteen years, would not be paying the bonds, but shaving them, and would be an improper use of means by which the paper of the Government overdue and dishonored should be redeemed. These positions are not inconsistent with anything I said in the Senate.

I am, very respectfully yours,

O. P. MORTON.

New England Temperance Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, December 2—The New England Christian Temperance Convention met here to-day and was largely attended. Hon. Henry Wilson was temporary Chairman and made a speech denunciatory of the License Law. Ex-Governor Buckingham of Connecticut was elected permanent Chairman and spoke at some length of the work temperance men have to do in New England. All the speakers were in favor of attempting a restoration of the prohibitory law in those States where it had been set aside and the adoption of it in others.

At the evening session speeches were made by Hon. Henry Wilson, Governor Buckingham and others. The speeches all pointed to the re-enactment of the prohibitory law. There was a large attendance and a very strong indication that the subject will be thoroughly agitated and brought before the next Legislature, near the opening of the session.

—Orders relative to the distillation of liquors have been issued by Commissioner Rollins, in accordance with the recent opinion of Attorney General Evarts.

CATTLE DISEASE.

National Convention of Cattle Commissioners.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, December 2.—The American Convention of Cattle Commissioners, at Springfield, Illinois, met this morning, President L. G. Allen in the chair. The following additional Commissioners appeared: Dr. Hiram Courson, Edward C. Humes and A. B. Hamilton, of Pennsylvania, and Norton S. Townsend of Iowa.

A somewhat lengthened discussion arose out of a resolution, offered by Dr. Clendennin, of Ohio, providing for the appointment of a committee to memorialize Congress to appoint a committee to investigate the causes, symptoms, mode of development, etc., of diseases, and report to the country.

General Patrick, of New York, thought the work could be better and cheaper accomplished under the direction of the War Department.

Mr. Hamilton, of Pennsylvania, thought the business more properly belonged to the Agricultural Department, and moved an amendment to that effect.

Mr. Reynolds, of Illinois, informed the Convention that the head of that Department was not engaged in the investigation of the plague, and doubted whether he could be induced to change his plan.

A substitute for the original resolution and amendment was offered by Mr. Hamilton, of Pennsylvania, to the effect that three members of the Convention be appointed to do the work, and ask an appro- Congress to defray expenses.

Pending a vote on the substitute, the Convention adjourned till half-past two o'clock in the afternoon.

At the opening of the afternoon session of the Convention it was arranged that the Law Draft Committee should report at half past seven o'clock in the evening.

The Convention then went into a general discussion of the cattle disease.

Dr. Morris gave an extended account of investigations under the direction of the Kentucky Board of Health, especially of the microscopic investigations as to the fungus believed to cause the disease. They were not found in the blood of healthy cattle.

Dr. Ramb gave his experience in the examination of the disease in Chicago.

Judge Brown, of Jacksanville, Illinois, a Texas cattle dealer, presented the opinion of that class. All proper regulations should be made. He thought if the introduction of cattle was prohibited from the last of March to the first of October, and require them when brought to be kept in separate enclosures, and hold the owners of Texas cattle responsible for all losses from the disease, there would be no trouble. He urged at length the importance of the Texas cattle trade.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Christie, Piper, Barrett and others until the adjournment of the afternoon session.

The following is a complete list of Commissioners in attendance:

Illinois—E. A. Piper, H. C. Johns.
Indiana—J. Poole, J. Matthews, A. Earle.
Michigan—Dr. M. Liles, S. Howard.
Wisconsin—P. A. Chaldbourne, B. R. Hinckley.
Missouri—Dr. L. D. Morse, S. Smith, H. J. Loore.
Ohio—J. Stockdale, Dr. W. Clendenin, Dr. McMillan, T. Reber, E. Messenger.
Maryland—Dr. N. Brown, Dr. McCall, Dr. W. S. McPherson, J. M. Carter.
Pennsylvania—Dr. H. Carson, E. C. Hughes, A. B. Hamilton.
New York—L. S. Patrick, L. A. Allen, J. S. Gould.
Rhode Island—Dr. E. M. Snow.
Massachusetts—E. F. Thayer.
Province of Ontario—Hon. D. Christie, A. A. Burnham, F. W. Stone.

In all thirty-six Commissioners. As will be seen the Convention is composed of very able men. That they will agree on some measures which, if adopted, will prevent the future introduction of the disease, and yet allow the Texan cattle to be introduced, is quite probable; but that there will be any general agreement as to the cause of the disease is hardly to be expected. The diversity of opinion among the Commissioners is too great for that.

CUBA.

Stagnation in Trade—News from the Interior—Dissention Among the Rebels.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

HAVANA, December 2.—The stagnation in trade is increasing. Merchants refuse to make advances to planters on their crops.

The Diario to-day publishes the following news from the interior: The rebels near Villa del Cobre have destroyed the aqueduct which supplies Santiago de Cuba with water. A brother of Gen. Cespedez was killed in the engagement at Cobre. Dissentions had broken out among the rebel leaders. Perz objects to the appointment of Cespedez as Commander-in-Chief of the revolutionary forces. The town of Manzillo continues in the possession of the government, but is beseiged by the rebels.

The Erie Railroad Muddle.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, December 2.—The proceeding in Erie to-day comprised the issue by Judge Cardozo of an order, on the application of defendants, viz: The Company, returnable next Monday, directing the plaintiffs, viz: Belmont and others, to show cause why the proceedings before Judge Sutherland should not be reargued, and granting, meanwhile, a stay of the proceedings.

Subsequently Judge Sutherland issued an order to show cause why the order of Cardozo should not be argued before him at once,

The defendants again had recourse to Cardozo, who, after argument, vacated the order of Sutherland.

The plaintiffs again applied to Sutherland to vacate the Cardozo order, and after some discussion action was postponed until to-morrow.

—Arizona advices to November 14th state the Legislature had assembled at Tuscan. November 10th the troops attacked an Indian camp, killed seventeen and wounded forty savages and captured several mules and a quantity of arms and provisions. A large party of Indians attacked a pack train near Prescott, killed three men, captured a lot of rifles, pistols and ammunition, and drove off the animals. The mails taken from the mail rider by the Indians, near Fort Whipple, were recovered and delivered to the postmaster at Wickensburg. Some uneasiness was expressed in regard to the safety of a party of miners who went to Black Canon some time since, as nothing had been heard from them. It is thought by some the Maqui Indians from Mexico have joined the Apaches in the present war against the whites. The Indians in the neighborhood of Wickensburg stampeded a large herd of cattle, horses and mules belonging to the Vulture Mining Company, and succeeded in driving off forty head. A number of recruits had arrived at camps Grant and McDowell.

—The official Army Register for 1868, just published by the War Department, shows that since the Register was issued for 1867, the resignations have been as follows: One Lieutenant Colonel, one Major, thirteen Captains, twenty-five First Lieutenants, thirteen Second Lieutenants, eight Assistant Surgeons and one military storekeeper. Thirty officers have died; seven were dismissed, and nine were cashiered. Brigadier General and Brevet Major General Robert K. Scott resigned.

—A Denver (Colorado) dispatch of Tuesday says: Both parties held conventions yesterday, to consider the subject of the admission of Colorado into the Union as a State. Both conventions were fully attended. The Republican convention passed a resolution, with but one dissenting voice, requesting Congress to admit Colorado at once, on such terms as they may deem necessary. The Democratic convention is not yet harmonious. The chairman of the Central Committee, and other prominent members, advocate admission on any terms, but many are opposed, except that negro suffrage is not made a part of the Constitution. The conventions passed resolutions asking Congressional aid in the construction of railroads centering in Colorado.

MEETING OF ELECTORAL COLLEGES.

—The electors for President and Vice President of Illinois met at the Capital, in Springfield, yesterday. Gov. Koener was appointed to the Chair and Gen. S. A. Hurlbut acted as Secretary. Elector Tunnecliffe was absent and James S. Irwin was appointed in his place. The electors cast the sixteen votes for Grant and Colfax. John E. Strong, of Jacksonville, was chosen messenger to carry the vote to Washington.

—The electors of Wisconsin met at Madison yesterday. W. T. Price, one of the electors, was detained by the failure of a train to connect, and was not present. Gen. C. M. Rusk was chosen to fill the vacancy. Eight ballots were cast for Grant and Colfax. Gen. Rusk was chosen messenger.

—The Electoral College of Tennessee cast its vote for Grant and Colfax. Clay Newland was elected messenger. The College adopted unanimously a resolution recommending Horace Maynard for a seat in the Cabinet, and gave Mr. Newland a letter to that effect to Gen. Grant.

—The New England Electoral Colleges again convened at the State capitals yesterday and cast their votes for Grant and Colfax.

—The Electoral College of Michigan met at Lansing and formally cast the vote of the State for Grant and Colfax.

—The Pennsylvania Electoral College met yesterday and cast twenty-six votes for Grant and Colfax.

OTHER PAPERS FILED.

Among other papers filed yesterday was the charter of the Gothe Verein Society, of Allegheny City, and the charter of the School of Design for Women.

Pleasant Valley Railroad.

MESSRS. EDITORS: An article appeared in the Dispatch of yesterday in reference to the extension of the Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway, which gives a one-sided and unjust view of the matter. The extension is asked, not for the benefit of a half a dozen families, but for the entire north-western portion of Allegheny city. The Second ward, particularly, would be greatly benefitted. Parties living there desiring to ride, have to walk to the Market House in order to get a car. The Committee having the matter in charge will confer a great benefit on large numbers of citizens by not being influenced by the decidedly one-sided article in the Dispatch.

THE LOST LITTLE SISTER.

On Summer nights, as day did gleam,
With waning light, from red to wan,
And we did play above the stream,
That near our house-lawn rambled on,
Our little sister lightly flew
And skipp'd about, in all her pride
Of snow-white frock and sash of blue,
A shape that night was slow to hide
Beside the brook, that trickled thin
Among the pebbles, out and in.

When wind may blow, at evening-tide,
Now here, now there, by mound and nook,
It may be on the leafy lime,
Or grey-boughed withy by the brook,
Or on the apple trees may fall,
Or on the elms, beside the grove,
Or on the lofty tower's wall,
On places where we used to rove—
Then every sound, in every place,
Will call to mind her pretty face.

Where periwinkle's buds of blue,
By lillies' hollow cups may wind,
What, then, can their two colors do,
But call our sister back to mind?
She wore no black—she wore her white,
She wore no black—she wore her blue.
She never mourn'd another's flight,
For she has been the first that flew,
From where our nimble feet did tread,
From stone to stone, the water's bed.

—A subscription paper for some religious object was handed to a zealous church member, when he remarked, "Well, I can give five dollars and not feel it." "Then," said the solicitor, "give ten and feel it." The point was seen at once, and the "ten spot" was forthcoming.

—M. Yvon, the French artist who paints the largest pictures of any man living, and who has painted more acres of canvass than any man, who is not a scene painter, in the world, is painting an immense allegorical representation of the emancipation of the slaves for Mr. A. T. Stewart's private gallery.

—A reporter recently lost a first class item by want of forethought, according to a Boston paper. A young man attempted to jump from a train of cars which was approaching that city, and the Knight of the Pencil, with an eye to business, impudently requested his name, age, occupation and residence, for an obituary item. The man concluded not to jump.

Cashmere Shawls.

An English exchange, in discussing the cost of Cashmere shawls in Little Thibet, says:

At the best the wool must be dear; a large goat gives at the most about six or eight ounces only of the grayish down which makes the shawl. This down or under-wool is bleached, spun into threads and dyed of many lovely colors; and then the shawl merchants give out the yarn to their spinners, with minute instructions regarding the pattern and quality. The poor "oostand," or weaver, gets no more than seven or eight pice per day for the exquisite fabric, which an Empress perhaps will wear. But, then, a really fine "Cashmere" will occupy a shop of three or four workers for a whole twelvemonth. The plain Cashmeres are woven with a thin long shuttle alone; the richest are made with wooden needles, a distinct needle for every shade of color; a quarter of an inch of such a shawl will often take three "oostands," a whole day to complete it. Ladies ought to know that sometimes, to expedite the manufacture, the Cachmeres make the article in separate pieces, which they sew together with such wonderful dexterity that in Paris or London many a shawl is bought for $100 which is not worth half its price. The weavers work the wrong side uppermost with a colored paper pattern before them for guide; nevertheless, they attain the most beautiful accuracy. It is this mode of working that puzzled all the imitators in Lyons, Nismes and Paisley. The true Cashmere is indeed a delightful article—so light, and yet so warm, besides displaying a splendid harmony of tints which it has taken three or four thousand years to teach the weavers; for its design is as old as the Arians. Therefore it must needs be imitated, and the French make their warp and weft of the genuine goat's wool, and faithfully copy the figures and hues of the original. But they cannot, with all their machinery and manifold shuttles, match the brown fingers of the Asiatic; and the Paris Cashmeres show on the reverse side cut ends of yarn which the veritable shawl never betrays. Lyons fabricates an extraordinary imitation, it is true, of the Oriental article—cut with such pains and cost, that the price is scarcely lower than that of the genuine Srinuggur square. Could we but have the Kushbegi's goat wool brought into the Punjaub at a cheap rate of cost, the patient, humble spinners of India would beat Europe hollow, with all Europe's ingenuity. We have no machines that will go for twopence a day; for that price the Umritsur spinner's toes and fingers will work all the year round, turning out in a place like a third-rate cowshed, a gorgeous blaze of color, "bright as sunlight to look at"—so the traders tell us—"and warm as sunshine to wear."

PRESERVATION OF TIMBER.—The builders of the ship canal, now in course of excavation through the St. Clair Flats, Michigan, are making use of a new process for the preservation of the timber employed in the frame work. The wood is thoroughly saturated with creosote oil by means of the following treatment: The planks are immersed in a bath of creosote oil, and subjected to a temperature of 230 degrees Farenheit for a sufficient time to expel all the moisture. When the pores are thus freed from the water, and contain only steam, a cold bath is substituted, so as to reduce the temperature from 230 to 65 or 70 degrees, by means of which change the steam in the pores of the wood is condensed and a vacuum formed, into which creosote is forced by atmospheric pressure. Green wood, it is stated, can be as successfully treated as dry.

STOCKS.

In the Stock market New York Central has been the feature and has risen largely, on report that large scrip dividends are soon to declared. The annual meeting occurs on the 9th, when this subject will probably be considered. The rise was assisted by the demand to cover previous speculative sales, the amount of which outstanding is said to be very large. The advance in Central caused great strength in the market, and Erie jumped to 41¼c, causing much surprise, but there being no apparent reason for the advance it relapsed to 38. The market was generally strong at the close, but the change in others was not very material. The transactions in Exchange stocks have been embarrassed by the closing of the transfer books of the American Company at two days' notice, which cuts off stockholders at a distance from having their stock transferred. It follows that a large class of holders will be without title to the new stock. The open board has determined that under the circumstances the American stock is a good delivery. The regular board has requested the American Company to reopen their books, and received in reply "the Company is no longer in existence."

Rivers and Weather.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, December 1.—River rising with seven feet eight inches of water in the canal by mark. Weather clear and moderately cold.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point with scant six and a half feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. The weather yesterday was clear and cold and very favorable for out door business.

No arrivals to report aside from the regular packets. The St. Charles from Cincinnati, and Camelia from Nashville are among the first boats due.

The R. C. Gray departed for Nashville last evening with a pretty good trip, her guards being almost down to the water.

The Bayard, Capt. A. S. Shepard, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving promptly at noon.

The Bellevernon, Capt. J. J. Darragh Jr., will positively leave for New Orleans today, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. She has three hundred and fifty tons of through freight engaged at Wheeling.

The Tom. Farrow, if she did not get off for St. Louis last night, will leave this morning.

The Mary Davage and Barges, are announced for New Orleans forthwith.

A decision in regard to the Great Republic, difficulty, was to have been made at St. Louis yesterday. It is looked for with considerable interest.

—A Marietta telegram to a Cincinnati paper, under date of Tuesday, says: Capt. Geo. L. Reppart, clerk of the steamer St. Charles, was married, this morning, to Miss Grace Fell, daughter of Charles G. Fell, of Marietta, and left on the 11 o'clock train for Cincinnati, thence to Pittsburgh to meet the St. Charles. The Lord has given him Grace this day. May it always be with him.

STEAMBOATMEN WILL QUARREL.—Capt. Sinnott, of the Gov. Allen, wrote as follows to Leathers, of the Belle Lee:

SIR: In your card in the Herald, of this morning, you make an insulting allusion to the steamer Gov. Allen and her officers, by saying that you come in competition only with "respectable boats." As commander of the Gov. Allen, I demand a retraction of the insult immediately in writing, as in the minds of the public, your card admits of but one construction—a slur upon my boat and crew.

Respectfully, R. SINNOTT.

To this card Captain Leathers replies that no insult was intended, and so the matter rests.

—The Wild Duck arrived at St. Louis on Monday, and the Leonidas was at Cairo the same day.

—The St. Charles left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Monday, and the New York was advertised to follow on Tuesday.

—The Ruth's freight and passenger receipts from New Orleans, last trip, amounted to $20,000.

—It is thought at St. Louis that the bidders of $30,000 on the Great Republic will get the boat.

—The restaurant style of living is to be adopted on the Memphis and White river packets. The Mayflower is now being changed for the new order of things, and the Commercial and Liberty will soon do likewise.

—A St. Louis telegram, under date of Monday, says: The case of the Great Republic was before the United States Court again to-day. It seems that the highest bid at the recent attempted sale was $25,-000. Capt. Henry Symmes, the bidder, insists that the steamer shall be turned over to him, which the United States Marshal refused to do, and the Court sustained him. The document was present from a responsible party offering $35,000 to start for the next sale. The lien creditors represent $83,000. Rates to New Orleans took another downward course to-day, and figures now are merely nominal.

—Captain Howard, and others, are negotiating for the Mollie Norton, to take the place of the Spray in the Maysville trade. The owners of the Norton ask $7,000 for her.

—An Evansville telegram to the Cincinnati Commercial, says: The Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, has been almost rebuilt and is as good as new and very pretty. She received 60 new floor timbers, new side timbers and knuckles, complete knuckle kelson, and out-riggers and guards, new wheel, new beds and rigging and new pantry, and left Tuesday for Memphis, with Capt. Billy Lowth in the offiee.

—A Cairo telegram under date of Monday says: The tow-boat Hero has been bought for $1,200, by Capt. Symmes, of St. Louis, who puts the machinery into a mountain boat, now being built at Metropolis, Illinois.

—The Bermuda was sold at Louisville the other day to Capt. Vinson of Memphis, for $9,000. She will load at Cincinnati for Arkansas.

—A Cincinnati exchange of Tuesday says: There is no accumulation of nails at Wheeling. They are usually a big item in the cargo of our Wheeling packets, for here and reshipment to points South and West. The Hudson yesterday brought but three hundred kegs. The barges, it is said, carried nails from Wheeling to St. Louis as low as fifteen cents, and to New Orleans at a proportionate rate.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 135.

THE close of the JOHNSON administration on the 4th of March leaves but little need for the assemblage of the next Congress on that day, as required by the present law. If provision be made, at the ensuing session, for taking the National census, and for other preliminaries requisite to a proper appointment of Representatives, there will remain no good reason why the members of the next House need appear at the Capitol until December, 1869. It would seem better, therefore, that the questions which we allude to should be squarely met and disposed of at the approaching session.

JOURNALS of the New York Herald class continue to cite General GRANT as authority for expressions which are more sensational than probable, and which the well known caution and prudence of the President elect justify us in discrediting. A man, who, as the highest military officer of the government, compresses the customary columns of an annual report into one brief paragraph, and yet knows how to make that comprehend all that is needful to be said, is not likely to be "slopping over" with diffuse revelations as to his future policy in confidence to every newspaper reporter whom he meets.

OVER two-thirds of the Electoral vote of the Nation were yesterday cast, in the method prescribed by the Constitution and laws, for GRANT and COLFAX, President and Vice President, for four years from March next. The residue of the vote was given to the defeated nominees of the opposition. It was, at one time, since the election, proposed to give an unanimous vote to Gen. GRANT, but we are not surprised to perceive that the opposition leaders, with characteristic delicacy, shrank from an act really of noble generosity, but which this wicked world might have construed as the cover for a bribe.

GENERAL CUSTAR, one of SHERIDAN'S lieutenants, has delivered the first blow at the hostile Indians. It seems to have been a most effective illustration of the new method by which SHERIDAN proposes to deal with a troublesome question. He thoroughly understands his enemy, having much experience with them in his earlier military career, and is evidently of the same opinion with STONEWALL JACKSON—that war means fighting, and fighting means killing. The destruction of BLACK KETTLE'S band, as detailed in yesterday's despatches, was evidently a fair fight, with a resolute enemy, and not another Sand Creek massacre of non-resisting victims. It will need but few such blows, as this from CUSTAR, to bring all the roving marauders to a submissive acceptance of the terms we have prescribed for them.

COLORADO should be admitted to the sisterhood of States, at the ensuing session of Congress. She has now a population which justifies her application, and Congress cannot with propriety refuse to re-affirm that action with which it assented to the admission last year. The territory has increased its population, in the intervening twelve months, at least twenty, if not thirty thousand, and, still better, the local issues, which then divided her people, upon the policy of State recognition, have practically vanished, for the most part, from public view. The question of Equal Suffrage only remains in dispute, and a considerable portion of the local Democracy are content, for the sake of admission, to surrender their objection on that point. Looking at the situation, whether in its local or National bearing, there is little room for doubt that Colorado will become one of the States this winter, with or without the assent of Mr. ANDREW JOHNSON.

"STILL HARPING UPON MY DAUGHTER!" Secretary Seward insists that England shall formally acknowledge her error in the premature recognition of the rebel belligerancy. He is kind enough to waive the incorporation of this concession in the new proctocol, but demands that it be officially made and recorded as a precedent, i. e., it must be "a distinct and permanent feature in the preliminary correspondence." It strikes us that this is not only a diplomatic humbug, but something worse than that, since it threatens to sacrifice our material interests in the equitable adjustment of a serious controversy, from regard for a mere point of honor.

The other point, upon which Mr. SEWARD objects to the JOHNSON protocol, is well taken, it sustained by the facts. There is not the shadow of any just reason why specific claims which have been already decided alike by the law officers of both governments, or by the Courts of the one in favor of the citizen of the other, should be re-opened now. In the nature of things, there could be no controversy upon such cases, and it is both needless and mischievous to include them, by way of a revision, in any subsequent agreement.

THE ERIE RAILWAY WAR.

The Managers of the Erie Railway Company have been selling a vast amount of stock, at low figures, in order to realize means to make necessary improvements upon the property. As they do not pay dividends, and never expect to, on the stock now outstanding, this procedure makes their pecuniary situation easy, and enables them to serve the public as well as themselves better than they otherwise could. Some day the road and its appurtenances will be sold on the mortgages given to secure bonds, and then the stock will be wiped out.

Very little of the new stock has been taken by other parties than the various cliques that are striving to gain the control of the road. The swindling, which has been gigantic, has been at the expense of swindlers. While this does not alter the moral quality of these transactions, it is agreeable to know that only professional stock gamblers have been fleeced. So far as they are concerned, they are entitled to no sympathy, and get none; for what has been done to them, they have often done to others, and are eager to do again, whenever opportunity shall offer.

One of the latest reports was to the effect that one of the officers had absconded with seven to nine millions of dollars belonging to the Company. This excited no surprise, because it was in keeping with what had gone before. But the person accused responds that he has not stolen the money, and has not eloped.

Meanwhile the Courts have been dealing with the matter, and, some of them, in a way to convince all careful observers that they are no better or purer than the stock-jobbers.

The whole affair is infamous, and furnishes a startling illustration of rottenness in business transactions which gives occasion for serious reflection.

THE CHARTIERS VALLEY RAILROAD.

A very encouraging meeting of the friends of the Chartiers Valley Railroad project was held at Canonsburg, a day or two ago, for the purpose of obtaining subscriptions to an amount required by the Pennsylvania Central Company to take in hand and carry through to completion the construction of the road. After a general expression of views, the meeting resolved to make strenuous efforts toward securing the necessary regular subscriptions in the form and on the terms proposed by the powerful ally to the enterprise.

It will be remembered that the Pennsylvania Central Company originally proposed to build the road and place on it the necessary rolling stock for operation, provided the citizens interested should subscribe $300,000 towards the capital stock, to be paid in assessments as needed. With no extraordinary effort $240,000 of that sum was obtained in subscriptions, and the Company accepted the amount in lieu of that originally requested. But when the subscription papers were handed in they were found to be purely informal in their character, irregular and not binding on the subscribers. The Company, having no desire to recede from its original proposition, but sincerely desiring the accomplishment of the end, could not recognize the proceedings unless the ground was all gone over and the subscriptions placed on a legal or binding basis. Their proposition now is that when the sum of $240,000 shall be subscribed in the authorized way, work will be commenced in favorable season and the road put in running order inside of ten months thereafter. In view of the good feeling and harmony which marked the recent meeting, and the generally expressed willingness of those present who had previously subscribed to do so again, we can confidently predict that before the close of next year the project will be converted into a paying reality.

IS SPAIN RIPE FOR A REPUBLIC?

The above question is a speculative one, and some of our readers may esteem it idle to attempt a definite solution of it, as time alone will be able to answer it satisfactorily, when the Spanish nation shall really decide upon a form of government. Still the question may and will arise, and it certainly can do no harm to give our views concerning it.

Now in the abstract, a perfect republic is only possible amongst perfect people; i. e. people without passions, without prejudices, in short, a nation consisting of philosophers. In that sense even the Americans, the inhabitants of the United States, are unfit to maintain a republic; and the late civil contest taught us, at a fearful expense, that even the best institutions are no safeguards against riots, mobs, and even wars, if the passions and the prejudices of the bad or ignorant rebel against the wisdom of the Constitution of the land, or if the minority refuse to submit to the dictates of the majority; a principle which, though defective in itself, is absolutely necessary for the maintenance of a democracy.

The people of the United States, though more able to govern themselves, are far from being perfect models of Republicans; else how could we account for the many violations of the laws bearing upon the rights of citizens, their protection and privileges in the various sections of the country? How could we account for the outrages committed on election days? the mobs and riots perpetrated in some places, and the fraudulent votes of unnaturalized persons in others? Those who charge the latter pernicious practice upon foreign-born individuals alone are surely very unjust. If they would investigate the matter carefully, they would see that more than half the blame rests upon the community or State where such outrages are perpetrated.

We repeat the question, Is Spain ripe for a Republic? We ought to ask it in the spirit of men, conscious of the fact, that they themselves are trying an experiment, which has created distressing doubts; that a few years ago they were themselves engaged in a fearful conflict, which made European sages shake their wise heads and ask the question, Is not the Republican form of government after all a failure, and would the European nations not do better to give up all wild hopes for greater liberty, and trust the safer rule of their potentates? Mind, the fortunate issue of our war has not decided this question. It has only hopefully postponed its decision. It is still our high duty and privilege to prove to the World, and Europe especially, that a Republic is not only the best, but the only good, sound and rational form of government, provided the people come as near as possible to the platform of perfect republicans as human nature can.

Now, being conscious of our own short comings, we ought to be the last people to deny the ability of the Spaniards to manage their affairs without the assistance of a man, whose principal merit is his birth, and who may be a blockhead, if he only descends from some illustrious house, and was born on a throne, by the grace of God. Let us look at such a monarch for a moment. Would the Spaniards want a sovereign like the queen of England, who—though ever so good a woman—is nothing but a cipher in the government and only makes herself felt to the people by the taxes which her maintenance requires? Such a sovereign is not calculated to make the government any more stable; as Victoria or her son may before long experience. With her the nation has a representative government with the expensive but yet useless ornament of a figure-head. The tide of time tends towards republican institutions, and the reform movements in England is the best evidence of the fact that the instinct of loyalty to a family, irrespective of its merits, is fast yielding to a better and nobler loyal affection for principle.

Then, if we could not advise the Spaniards to give themselves a mere appearance of rights—could we advise them to provide a new tyrant, just after having rid themselves of the old one? Such bad counsel would deserve but little attention.

The plea that they might choose a better ruler, gives no additional weight whatever. If they shall choose a good ruler, who will guarantee to them the goodness of his successor? or could we counsel them to adopt an elective empire, with the history of unhappy Poland as a warning example? No, if the Spaniards are not able to sustain a Republic, they are much less able to sustain an elective Kingdom. If factions would tear the entrails of a Spanish Republic, they would more certainly wound those of an elective kingdom; and the country, if it did not fall a prey to an ambitious leader, would soon be absorbed by its powerful neighbor, who would surely seize a propitious moment to appropriate the fair regions of Spain. A new dynasty—in the face of modern ideas—is more impossible in Spain than a Republic.

The conduct of the Spaniards during their late bloodless revolution speaks volumes in their favor. Self-control is one of the prime virtues; and we should find little difficulty in pointing out instances where sections of our glorious republic have been beaten in this respect by poor, degenerate Spain.

Let us in charity cheer on a nation resolute enough to throw off the yoke of a sovereign who, though profligate, could show the sanctification of centuries for her cause—yes, resolute enough to harbor an idea which would terrify enlightened England—the idea of a Republic.

The True Republican Policy.

The Republican party must cease to regard its success as necessary to the safety of the country. It must cease to strain its powers, cease to tolerate any corruption or abuses, no matter how much it may cost to uproot them. It must reform the whole civil system, and must select as rulers men who have some qualifications as practical statesmen, and not persons whose only virtue is intense hostility to rebels. In short, the Republican party must prove that it cannot only preserve the government, but wisely administer it, or, the necessity of the war having passed, the party will cease to have any claim upon the public confidence.—St. Louis Democrat.

Senatorial News.

Letters from Minnesota state that the indications are that Senator Ramsey will not be re-elected, owing to the Donnelly and Washburn quarrel, he having sided with the latter, and Donnelly's friends can control the Legislature even if they cannot elect Donnelly.

In Missouri, Ben. Leon is reported to have the inside track to Henderson's seat, and in Maine Hannibal Hamlin is pressing Lot M. Morrill very close, with chances, however, in favor of the latter. In Nevada Stewart has no serious opposition, and Chandler none in Michigan.

AUSTRIA.—The recent change in the political relations of this empire towards the States of Germany has caused an alteration in the name of the country and in the title of its ruler. By an imperial order, henceforth the designation of the empire will be the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy, or Austro-Hungarian State, and the title of the ruler in treaties with foreign powers will be "Emperor of Austria, King of Bohemia and Apostolic King of Hungary." This title in the body of the treaties will be abbreviated by the omission of all reference to Bohemia, and the monarch himself will be spoken of as "His Majesty the Emperor and King, or His Imperial and Royal Apostolic Majesty."

THE Attorney General's opinion on the Eight Hour Law, sent to the President on Monday, is understood to be in accordance with the decision of the Secretary of War, who decided that in no case can a full day's wages be given for eight hours' labor. It will be remembered that the law only requires the departments to pay full wages when the work done in eight hours equals that heretofore performed in ten hours.

CLIPPINGS.

WE have from Washington some interesting statements as to the operations of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Its assessments for the year are given at two hundred and seventy millions, and its collections at two hundred and fifty-four millions.

LAKE SUPERIOR WEATHER.—The sleighs are in full operation in Marquette, and the railroad between that place and Escanaba, has several times been blocked with snow. Off Ontonagon, and in the St. Mary's river, there was ice three or four inches thick.

A FEW evenings since in Rochester, New York, Mrs. J. F. Rothhangle, whose husband was at Charlotte on business, heard some row in the house, and a little daughter about nine years old slipped on her father's boots and commenced walking down stairs in imitation of the absent head of the house. The thieves were frightened at her approach and fled through the window by which they effected their entrance.

STEPS are being taken to contest the right of the Seymour electors of Louisiana to vote in the Electoral College. The Republican organizations in the State, aided by leading members of the party, are collecting and preparing evidence showing the commission by the Democrats of the gravest frauds and exposing the Rebel threats and intimidation throughout the State, which prevented negroes and other loyal men from voting.

THE bee raisers in the vicinity of Louisville, for a circuit of twenty-five miles, were recently startled by the discovery that their bees had all simultaneously decamped, going no one knew whither. The mystery is still unsolved. The deserted hives were all full of honey, containing from sixty to seventy-five pounds each. The opinion of a majority of the bee raisers was that the unusual mildness of the season deluded the bees into their mysterious migration.

THE Hon. E. B. Washburn, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, has been calculating estimates for the coming session of Congress. He says that the condition of affairs would be very satisfactory but for the Indian war, which seriously increases the necessary expenditures of the War Department. He thinks that the next Administration can make the Post-Office Department pay its own expenses, and that the expenses of the Treasury Department may be largely diminished.

SEVERAL year's experience of the License law in Massachusetts has resulted in increasing the number of liquor shops in Boston from 1,900 to 2,500, and the number in the State in like proportion. The good people of Massachusetts think the License law has had a fair trial, and on the whole has failed so signally as to convert the previous partial failure of the Prohibitory law into a comparative success. On the square issue between License and Prohibition they have elected an overwhelming majority of Prohibitionists to the next General Assembly, and the result will be a repeal of the License law and a return to Prohibition.

A NEW method of converting reciprocating into rotary motion by means of a treadle, has recently been exhibited in Boston. The invention, which also overcomes the liability of stopping upon a dead centre, produces a rotary motion from the treadle by means of two flexible connecting rods, combined with two reciprocating pawls acting in concert. The pawls are so arranged that the slightest movement of the treadle produces a rotary motion to the shaft carrying the driving pulley. It is stated that this apparatus enables the operator to change the motion and position of the foot at will, thus greatly relieving the monotonous and constant vibration of the body, as well as decreasing the muscular effort.

THE London Spectator observes: "The years during which President Grant occupies the White House will clearly not be good times for speculators, or for disobedient officials, or for persons who violently disturb the public peace." In alluding to his published correspondence, &c., it adds: "General Grant comes out in these letters, and orders, and—no, not speeches—sayings, a soldier politician of the best sort, but with a vein of wrath in him, a man who surveys politics as he would a valley, without seeing every tree, but missing no strategic point, a soldier who is aware that there must be farce somewhere to keep society together, but a politician who is determined that force shall be the law, framed and modified by the representatives of the people. We congratulate the United States on a President who dislikes waste, even when the wasteful support his party, and will put down murderers even when they plead the sovereign rights of States."

THE ROOF OF THE WORLD is the name of a vast elevated region of table land situated in Central Asia, from which rivers and mountain chains radiate towards all points of the compass. This district lies to the northwest of British India, and touches on the Russian frontier posts in Turkestan. On the northeast of India is another unexplored tract running as far as the most western provinces of China which have recently declared their independence of the government of Pekin. Both these regions have attracted attention in England, and at a recent session in London of the Royal Geographical Society, the President, Sir Roderick L. Murchison, dwelt very impressively upon the necessity of their thorough exploration to ascertain the existence of practical passes through the mountains. Murchison considered it highly important on the one hand that a route of traffic on the eastern side should be opened between British Burmah and China, but on the other hand insisted that a broad zone of neutral territory should be forever interposed between India and the latest conquest of Russia in Turkestan.

The Pittsburgh Teachers' Institute.

THIRD SESSION.

The Third session of the Institute was held last evening in the Hall of the Third Ward School building, on Grant street.

The attendance was much larger than at any previous session, and the exercises were of a very interesting and instructive character.

The Institute was called to order at seven and a half o'clock by Prof. Lucky, who led the audience in prayer.

Prof. Lucky announced that hereafter the sessions of the Institute would commence promptly at seven o'clock.

The exercises were opened with a beautiful song, by the Allegheny Quartette Club, entitled "The Old Mountain Tree," which was rendered in excellent style and received loud applause.

Mrs. Seaver, of Oswego, was then introduced and gave an object lesson, taking for her subject "The Cat."

The lesson was taught in a very natural and easy method, and the manner of making it plain and practical to the understanding of the smallest child in the primary department was developed in a clear and very satisfactory style.

The audience was now granted an intermission of five minutes, and when called together again was favored with another melody by the Allegheny Quartette Club, entitled "The Little Brown Church." Miss Seaver again took the stand and treated the audience to another object lesson in Natural Philosophy, taking for her subject the properties of expansion and contraction, as seen in the heating and freezing of water.

At the close of this lesson the Quartette Club sang an exquisite song entitled "Bright Angels will Bear me to Rest;" composed by Prof. Dorling, one of the Quartette.

This was followed by a comic song, entitled 'The Sneezing Catch," which was received with such rapturous applause that the Club were again compelled to come forward and favor the audience with another song, after which the Institute adjourned.

This evening A. H. Chase, of Harrisburg, will deliver an address to the Teachers, and on Friday evening Prof. Wickersham, State Superintendent, will address the Institute. It is earnestly desired that all the Directors of our Public Schools be present on Friday evening to hear Prof. Wickersham's address, as it will be that which will more especially interest them. The Institute will close on Saturday, with day sessions in the morning and afternoon, both of which promise to be more than usually interesting and instructive.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The audience at the Opera House was not as large last evening as the entertainment merited, yet it was a reasonably fair one. Mr. Adams appeared as the Duke of Gloster in Richard III. If Mr. Booth has a rival in his profession, Mr. Adams is certainly that man. His Richard in many respects is even superior to that of Booth's, and he takes pains throughout to certainly render the character better than any other man except Booth. To-night "The King of the Commons" will be presented, in which Mr. Adams has no superior.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—A reasonably large audience attended the Old Drury last evening. To-night Miss Kate Fisher will appear in "The Child of the Sun," a piece which gives ample scope for her style of acting.

VARIETIES THEATRE.—The attendance at Trimble's Varieties last night was, as usual, good. The entertainments of this establishment are of such a character, and the attractions so numerous, that the public will bestow their patronage upon it liberally.

THE MUSEUM.—Maj. Burnell continues to have a large number of visitors, both day and evening, at his attractive Museum, Franklin Hall, Fifth avenue.

THE PEAK FAMILY.—A large and appreciative audience assembled at the Academy of Music last night, which was the opening entertainment of the Peak family. Their exhibition, while of a strictly moral character, is of a variable character and well calculated to meet the taste of a mixed audience. The lovers of good music should not fail to attend, and if you desire fun, we know of no place, where it is more fully dispensed in its purity, than at the entertainments of the Peak family. Persons contemplating a visit there tonight, should secure seats, as the Academy will doubtless be crowded.

ST. BRIDGETS FAIR.—The fair at St. Bridgets Church, Eleventh ward, was largely attended last night, and promises to be a success.

BIRMINGHAM FAIR.—The fair now in progress in the Town Hall, Birmingham, for the benefit of the St. Johns Church was largely attended last night, and the receipts were in excess of what was anticipated.

Clothing Store Robbed.

At an early hour yesterday morning the clothing store of Messrs. Elliott & Lyons, No. 53 Federal street, Allegheny, was robbed of a large quantity of made-up goods and valuable cloths. The thieves effected an entrance by prying open the shutters of one of the rear windows, breaking one of the large panes of glass, and crawling through the hole thus made. They carried off about fifteen overcoats, several business coats, several pairs of pants, some vests and a number of carpet sacks. The carpet sacks, it is surposed, were used in carrying off the lighter articles. The thieves also secured several remnants of valuable cloth, and one or two rolls which they had attempted to take away were found in the coal shed this morning. They rummaged the store pretty thoroughly, and mixed the goods up in such confusion that the proprietors can hardly form an estimate as yet of their loss. There is no clue to the robbers, but the police are endeavoring to ferret them out.

REVOLT IN THE INTERIOR.

When the stomach is rebellious, the liver contumacious, the bowels disordered, the brain confused and the nerves in a tumult, call in the aid of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, if you would restore quiet, regularity and harmony to the action of these important organs. A large proportion of the complaints to which the human family are subject, originate in indigestion. For this distressing malady, and parent of innumerable ailments as distressing as itself, the BITTERS are the only a tiele proved by experience to be a universal and unfailing remedy. But although it was as a remedy for dyspepsia and billiousness that they first obtained prestige twenty years ago, it is now pretty well understood, both by the public and the medical profession, that their curative properties take a far wider range. In nervous complaints, spasmodic affections, fever and ague, and every variety of general and local debility, their effect is most salutary; and as a means of preparing the system to resist damp, cold, poisonous elements in the water or the air, privation, exposure, &c., no medicinal agent at present known can be justly compared with this powerful yet narmless tonic. The feeble and sensitive, who can ill withstand the inclemency of the winter season, will find the BITTERS exactly the article they need to fortify and sustain them.

A FACT OF GREAT VALUE.

No one can be too often impressed with the truth of all disorders which mankind are prone to, none are of more prevalence at this season of the year than those which manifest themselves in the lungs and pulmunary organs. Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a speedy and infallible cure in all recent cases of coughs and lung diseases, and DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE in cases of long standing and great obstinacy, will be found of inestimable value. There is scarcely a house or family in Pittsburgh that cannot testify to its merits, and instead of a person wasting time on other inert and inappropriate remedies, let them walk themselves to Dr. Keyser's, 140 Wood street, where they will find the right medicine adapted to their cure. The Doctor has a long experience in medicine, and in these lung cases, he has given signal proof of his great ability and thorough knowledge of all those diseases in which the lungs take a prominent part. His residence in Pittsburgh is over twenty years, and the value of his remedies is extended wherever coughs are prevalent and lung diseases to be cured.

DR. KEYSER'S RESIDENT OFFICE for LUNG EXAMINATIONS AND THE TREATMENT OF OBSTINATE CHRONIC DISEASES, 120 PENN STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA. Office hours from 9 A. M. UNTIL 4 P. M.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY

For 1869.

HON. J. LOTHROP MOTLEY, the eminent historian, will contribute a series of Historical Articles, beginning early in the year.

C. W. HIGGINSON, so long and favorably known to readers of The Atlantic Monthly, has written a serial story entitled "Malbone: An Oldport Romance," which will begin with the January number and continue the greater part of the year.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL will furnish frequent contributions, both in Prose and Poetry. The January number will contain an Essay and a Poem from his pen.

EDWARD EVERETT HALE, Author of "A Man without a Country," will contribute a series of Stories and Sketches similar to those which have been so popular with readers of previous volumes of the Atlantic.

JAMES PARTON will continue his articles on Social, Industrial and Commercial subjects. His first contribution to the volume for 1869 is a striking paper, entitled, "The Mean Yankee" at Home. By a Summer Visitor."

DR. I. I. HAYES will contribute a series of papers, entitled, "The Experience of an American Cadet."

THE AUTHOR of "VICTOR AND JAQUELINE" will contribute a new American Romance, to appear in twelve numbers.

DR. HENRY I. BOWDITCH will furnish a very valuable series of papers on "Consumption," showing its manifold causes, and the best modes of remedying the evils which produce it.

JAMES FREEMAN CLARKE will give, in a series of papers, a complete account of Oriental Religions.

BAYARD TAYLOR will contribute to most of the numbers of the coming year, furnishing several Stories and Essays.

EUGENE BENSON will furnish papers on Art and Literature.

A DISTINGUISHED PHYSIOLOGIST will furnish several most timely and popular papers on the "Increase of Longevity in America."

CO-OPERATIVE HOUSEKEEPING. The valuable popular papers on "Co-operative Housekeeping" will be continued through several years.

A series of Autobiographical Papers, descriptive of a residence of several years on the Isle of Shoals, will be published in the volumes for 1869.

In addition to the above, the Atlantic for 1869 will be enriched with articles in Prose and Poetry from its regular contributors, among whom are the following:—H. W. LONGFELLOW, W. C. BRYANT, J. G. WHITTIER, G. W. CURTIS, CHARLES SUMNER, O. W. HOLMES, R. W. EMERSON, LOUIS AGASSIZ, MRS. A. M. DIAZ, HARRIET BEECHER STOWE, LYDIA MARIA CHILD, GEORGE S. BOUTWELL, H. T. TUCKERMAN, C. C. TERMS—$4.00 a year; 2 Copies, $7.00; 5 Copies, $16.00; 10 Copies, $30.00.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

For 1869,

Edited by J. T. Trowbridge and Lucy Larcom.

The Publishers of OUR YOUNG FOLKS, availing themselves of the best literary talent in the country, and adopting new plans suggested by the experience of the past four years, have made such arrangements that the coming volume will be not only more attractive than any volume of any other juvenile magazine in the world, but more comprehensive and practical in its scope and character than ever before.

THE STORY OF A BAD BOY,

BY T. ALDRICH,

Forming the narrative of a boy's life and experiences in an ancient New England seaport, will be the leading Serial Story in OUR YOUNG FOLKS for the year 1869. The Bad Boy is a close study from life, and will be recognized at once as a faithful delineation. He is a fresh character in American juvenile literature, which is overcrowded with unnaturally good boys.

GARDENING FOR GIRLS.

This highly interesting and important story has been written by the Author of that popular work "Six Hundred Dollars a Year," and is intended to convey, in an entertaining form hints to young girls as to a useful disposal of their time, and to give valuable assistance in the study of Botany, serving the purpose for them which was answered for boys in the admirable serial "Farming for Boys."

HOW TO DO IT.

EDWARD EVERETT HALE will contribute, under the above title, various papers, written for the practical instruction of grown-up boys and girls, and of our young men and women, in the methods of life. They will include suggestions as to the way,—How to Talk; How to Read; How to Write: How to Travel; How to Act in Society, and How to Work.

THE WORLD WE LIVE ON.

Under this title MRS. AGASSIZ will give a series of papers, explaining in a familiar way many of the phenomena observed in the world about us. She will give an account of the coal deposits, and explain the way in which the coral insects construct islands in the ocean. She will also explain how and why earthquakes occur, and describe some of the more noted ones.

THE GREAT NAVIGATORS, VOYAGERS AND DISCOVERERS.

MR. JAMES PARTON will contribute a number of biographical sketches, taking as his subjects the lives of some of the most eminent navigators and discoverers. These will include Prince Henry of Portugal, Diaz, Vasco da Gama, Eagellan, Columbus, John and Sebastian Cabot, Champlain, Hudson and others.

DIALOGUES.

MR. EPEZ SARGENT will furnish a number of new DIALOGUES adapted to School Exhibitions and Private Representations.

AMERICAN HISTORY

Will be presented in articles by MR. J. H. BONE. These will include "The Mound Builders of the West," "The First New England Thanksgiving," "Salem Witchcraft," "Pere Marquette and the Mississippi Explorations," and "King Philip's War."

HUMAN BEES.

MR. TROWBRIDGE will describe some of the more important and interesting branches of human industry, such as GLASS-MAKING, COAL-MINING, SHIP BUILDING and WATCH-MAKING.

NATURE AND OUT-DOOR LIFE

Will be the subject of articles by the AUTHOR OF "THE SEVEN LITTLE SISTERS," to which others will be added by MR. CHARLES J. FOSTER and MR. W. F. G. SHANK, who will furnish papers upon the FIRE-DAMP, WRECKS and WRECKING, &c.

DECLAMATIONS.

RARE DECLAMATIONS of an entirely fresh character, will be furnished by REV. ELIJAH KELLOGG author of "Spartacus," and "Icilius." The first of these, "Hannibal at the Altar," will appear early in the year.

ACTING CHARADES.

Each number of the new volume will contain an Acting Charade, prepared expressly for young people by S. ANNIE FROST, the best American writer of such plays.

MRS. STOWE, MRS. DIAZ, MISS MULOCK, MRS. WHITNEY, MISS CHOLLET, MRS. AUSTIN, MRS. WELLS, MRS. THAXTER, MISS PHELPS, MRS. WEAKS, MISS PRESCOTT, "NO-NIE MAY," and others, will continue their pleasant contributions, and their names are an assurance that articles for the special benefit of girls will not be wanting in the magazine.

ILLUSTRATIONS.

The Illustrations will remain under the charge of MR. ANTHONY, and no pains or expense will be spared to supply the best which can possibly be obtained. Special prominence will hereafter be given to FULL-PAGE PICTURES.

EVENING LAMP AND LETTER BOX.

These departments will be enlarged and improved. The Editors will endeavor through these departments to give encouragement and advice to their young friends, and they cordially invite communications from all their readers.

EDITORIAL CHATS.

The Editors will reserve in each number a space for Familiar Chats with their young readers about books, pictures, games, work, and any topic of interest that may be suggested.

The conductors of "Our Young Folks," being fully sensible of the great interest felt by parents and educators in the cause of juvenile literature, will give their best endeavors to make this magazine worthily answer all reasonable demands in this direction. They will hope to make it such a means of instruction and entertainment that it shall be indispensable to every household.

TERMS:—$3.00 in advance. 3 copies, $5.00; 5 copies, $8.00; 10 copies, $15.00, and $1.50 for each additional copy.

AN ORDINANCE

To Provide for the Assumption of the City of Pittsburgh of the Debts and Liabilities of the Several Corporations of which it is Composed.

Whereas, David N. White, Alexander Gordon and John Walker, Jr., Commissioners, duly appointed by the District Court of Allegheny county, at No. 105 of April Term, 1868, in pursuance of the 33d section of the Act of Assembly of the state of Pennsylvania, entitled "an act supplementary to the acts incorporating the city of Pittsburgh, extending its boundaries, &c., approved the 6th day of April, A. D. 1867," have ascertained the liabilities, appraised the property, determined the seperate indebtedness, and fixed the rate of special tax to be levied in each of said districts, as appeared by the report of said Commissioners filed in said District Court, at the number and term aforesaid, which said report and the special tax thereby fixed were confirmed by said Court. And, whereas, by the 35th section of said act, it is made the duty of Councils to pass an ordinance for carrying said report and the decree of Court into effect therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same, That the City of Pittsburgh shall, and does hereby assume and become liable for all the municipal debts and liabilities of each of the former corporations or townships comprised within its limits; and hereby accept the title to and assume control of all property and rights of property, of every kind and description, excepting School Houses and lots which were vested in any of said corporations.

SEC. 2. That the Councils shall hereafter, at the time of making their annual appropriations, make a special assessment for the payment of the separate indebtedness of each of said corporations, upon the districts contained therein respectively, in accordance with the act of Assembly, the report of Commissioners, and decree of Court aforesaid.

SEC. 3. That in order to comply with the provisions of the 16th section of an act of Assembly of the State of Pennsylania, entitled "an act supplementary to an act incorporating the city of Pittsburgh," approved the 1st day of April, A. D. 1868, whenever the City of Pittsburgh shall be required to pay any amount of the debt of any of the corporations within her limits, greater than the amount of the assessed valuation of property, and the amount received from special tax from said district, it shall be the duty of Councils to provide for a temporary loan for that purpose, so that no part of the separate indebtedness of any district shall be payable out of revenue derived from other districts.

SEC. 4. That any ordinance or part of ordinance conflicting with the passage of this ordinance at the present time, be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this ordinance.

Ordained and enacted into a law in Councils, this 30th day of November, A. D. 1868.

AN ORDINANCE

Authorizing Messrs. William McKim & Co., to Construct a Siding on Thirty-Eighth Street.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same, That Messrs. William McKim & Co. be and they are hereby authorized to construct a siding across Thirty-Eighth street, from the Allegheny Valley R. R., in such place as may be designated by the City Engineer, so as not to interfere with the established grade of the street.

SEC. 2. That Messrs. Wm. McKim & Co., in using said Siding, shall not leave cars standing so as to obstruct travel on any street or alley crossing the line of the Siding, or in any way with the drains or water courses of any street or any individual drains now located.

SEC. 3. That the Mayor in conjunction with the Street Committee, are hereby authorized to grant unto the said Wm. McKim & Co., a license for the same, upon the payment unto the Mayor the usual fee for said license.

SEC. 4. Nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to prevent the city from revoking the privilege granted by this ordinance, at any time, upon sixty days' notice being given.

SEC. 5. That any ordinance or part of ordinance conflicting with the passage of this ordinance at the present time, be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this ordinance.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

IMPROVEMENT IN

CABINET ORGANS.

(PATENTED 1868.)

THE MASON & HAMLIN

IMPROVED VOX HUMANA

Is a new invention, now ready in several styles of the MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS, to which the manufacturers invite attention, believing that it is likely to prove

THE MOST POPULAR IMPROVEMENT EVER MADE in instruments of this class.

It is now several years since the invention and application to such instruments as the VOX HUMANA, which was first applied by its inventor to the Organs of Mason & Hamlin, who were urged to introduce it to the public. In its then imperfect state, and especially considering its liability to get out of order, they were unwilling to adopt it. From that time continuous experiments for its improvement have been made in the factory of the Mason & Hamlin Organ Company and elsewhere, which have at last been eminently successful, the result being the MASON & HAMLIN IMPROVED VOX HUMANA, combining several patents.

In combination with the AUTOMATIC BELLOWS SWELL, used only in these Organs, it wonderfully increases the capacity and beauty of the instrument, imparting delicious qualities of tone, and producing novel and exquisite effects; especially adding to its variety and delicacy of expression, and increasing, somewhat, its power. The peculiar excellencies of several Orchestral Instruments are successfully imitated; and altogether as frequently characterized by organists, "the effect is fascinating." It is simple in construction, free from liability to get out of order, and requires no additional skill for its use, being operated by the ordinary action of the bellows, requiring no separate pedal.

STYLES AND PRICES,

Attention is invited to the new styles of Organs and new scale of prices announced this month:

NEW STYLE, No. 21—FIVE STOP DOUBLE REED CABINET ORGAN, with Vox Humana. Case of solid Black Walnut, carved and panelled, new design. Stops Diapason, Viola, Melodia, Flute, Vox Humana. The best Organ of its size that can be made. Price $170.

NEW STYLE, No. 22—The same Organ, in Rosewood Case. Price $200.

NEW STYLE, No. 39—The same in Pipe Organ style of Case, Carved and Panelled, Walnut, with richly Gilt Pipes. Price $300.

NEW STYLE, No. 27—8 B-BASS AND OCTAVE COUPLER CABINET ORGAN, FIVE STOPS—Diapason, Principal, Octave Coupler, Sub-Bass, Vox Humana. Solid Walnut Case. Each key commands four separate reeds or vibrators. An Organ of surprising power and brilliancy, and great variety. Price $250.

STYLE No. 1—FOUR OCTAVE ORGAN—Solid Walnut case, plain. Price $50.

STYLE No. 3—FOUR OCTAVE DOUBLE REED ORGAN. Solid Walnut Case, plain. Price $75.

STYLE A—FIVE OCTAVES, ONE STOP—TREMULANT, with one set of Vibrators throughout, and Knee Swell. Carved and Panelled Walnut Case. Price $100.

STYLE C—FIVE OCTAVES, FIVE STOPS, VIOLA, DIAPASON, MELODIA, FLUTE, TREMULANT, with two sets of Vibrators throughout and Knee Swell. Carved and Pannelled Walnut Case. Price $125.

MANY OTHER STYLES AT PROPORTIONATE RATES.

The superiority of the MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS is well established. They are the ACKNOWLEDGED STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE among instruments of the class; were awarded the PARIS EXPOSITION MEDAL, and have been honored with an amount and degree of commendation from the musical profession of this and other countries never given to any other instrument.

A new descriptive and illustrated catalogue, just issued; and will be sent free to every applicant.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, December 1, 1868.

Business in financial circles was rather dull to-day, except some small transactions in Allegheny Valley Railroad bonds, which changed hands from 82 to 83—a sale is reported at 85 by special agreement.

The gold market remained quiet at 135¼ to 135¼, after having once touched 135. There is more disposition to buy than to sell, and time contracts are limited to present quotations in small amounts. Those who would feel to operate for a decline for commercial reasons are afraid to engage largely on account of the risk, should a further issue of three per cent. notes or certificates be issued or the Secretary of the Treasury's report be considered unfavorable to an early resumption of specie payment. If the United States Treasury continues to sell gold to within a few days of the first of next month, then we may look to lower prices for gold in January, and it is quite possible that as low a rate as 125 may be reached without the aid of any bear movement by operators. The exchange market is now well supplied with cotton bills, and the decline of Five Twenties of 1862 being about equal with European quotations, no apprehensions need be entertained about the shipment of specie to fetch over bonds on contracts.

Government bonds are at stand-still, and there is little disposition to either buy or sell largely. Bankers buy within ⅛ to ¼ per cent. of board quotations, and sell at ⅛ to ½ per cent. above, which in the average, leaves them but ⅛ per cent. net profit. There is always more inquiry for bonds at an advance then there is on a declining market.

Stocks are dull and lower to-day, except New York Central, which closed 2 per cent. higher than the average sales of the day. Fort Wayne is steady, but all the rest of the list rather weak. Express shares are improving.

Money easier, being less in demand, but high rates are offered for long paper. Business is improving.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, December 2, 1868.

There is a very important problem in the oil business just now, one, which in the flurry of the excitement of the past week or two, has been partially lost sight of, and one which a good many dealers would pay liberally to have solved. We refer to the price of Crude oil during the next three or four months. It is said that there are two million gallons of empty tankage in the oil regions, here and at Cleveland, and, of course, there is a desire on the part of tank owners to fill these tanks between now and spring. Heretofore, oil has generally ruled low during the winter, and, of course, that is the time selected to put away cheap oil, so as to be able to take advantage of the market during the spring and summer months, and there is little or no risk in operating in this way. The point with these parties now is, will oil rule as low this winter as it did last? this is the problem to which we have referred, and it must be acknowledged that it is a hard one to solve. If we can take the present as a criterion for the future, the question would have to be answered in the negative. Stocks are generally conceded to be light, and the production is falling off, though this is to be expected at this season of the year; nor is it likely to be increased much before spring, as the spirit of development usually lags during cold weather, and, to follow this still further, the demand is constantly increasing. Notwithstanding the market has been offish for two or three days, and prices are lower, there seems to be an under current that oil is destined to rule higher this winter than it did last, though it by no means follows that anything like present prices will be sustained.

CRUDE.

The market for Crude is quiet and steady, and while there is but comparatively little doing, prices are pretty well sustained. We can report 1,000 bbls spot (40 to 46) at 11½; 3,000 for first six months 1869. (sellers option) at 11; 3,000 bbls spot (40 to 46) at 11, which the buyer is to return during the first six months of next year, at same price; also $100 paid for the privilege of "putting" in 2,000 bbls any time in 1869, sellers option, at 10.

REFINED

The market opened weak and bearish during the early part of the day, December being quoted down to 27½ to 28; subsequently there was a decidedly firmer feeling, with a sale of 500 bbls for the last of December at 29, and 29½ was afterwards bid, without finding takers. For future delivery, there was little or nothing done.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, December 2, 1868.

Dullness and stagnation continue to be the order of the day in business circles, though hopes are still entertained that an improvement is near at hand. The experience of the past, however, is calculated to cause a feeling of distrust in regard to the future, and as a consequence there is not the same rash disposition manifested to pitch in that there was three months ago. This has been a remarkably hard season for speculators, particularly in Grain, many of whom have been forced to "bite the dust" and we are apprehensive, that unless there is a reaction for the better, and that, too, before long, others will be compelled to do likewise. We have no doubt but what there is still considerable grain being carried all over the country, bought early in the season at prices that cannot be realized now, and unless prices improve and money becomes easier, the end is not yet. We are in hopes, however, that the worst is passed, and that relief will soon be afforded to those who are now in a very unpleasant situation.

APPLE BUTTER—In good supply and dull but unchanged; at 70 to 75 in kegs, and 80 to 85 in crocks.

BUTTER—Is quiet and unchanged with regular sales at 35 to 40, for prime to choice Roll.

BEANS—Sales at $3,50 to $3,75 per bushel.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Regular sales at 4½c.

CRANBERRIES—Sales of fair to choice Eastern Cultivated at $20 to $25 per bbl.

CIDER—Dull; $6 to $8 per bbl.

CHEESE—Dull; sales at 15 to 16 for Western Reserve; 18 for Ohio Goshen, and 20 for New York do.

CHESTNUTS—Nominal $6 per bushel.

DRIED FRUIT—The demand is rather better, and the market firmer; Peaches at 12 for quarters, and 14 to 15 for halves, and Apples at 9 to 10c, as to quality.

EGGS—Limed quoted at 30 to 32, and fresh packed at 34 to 35.

HAY—Sales at Allegheny Diamond Scales of 29 loads at $20 to $35. Baled is dull, with sales on wharf at $18 to $23, as to quality.

STRAW—Sales 5 loads at $20.

CORN HUSKS—Sales at 3½c.

GRAIN—There is little or nothing doing in Wheat, and prices are nominally unchanged at $1,75 to $1,80. New Corn is in rather better demand, and with diminished arrivals, the market is firmer, though prices are unchanged at 70 to 75c, on track. Old Corn is dull and neglected. Rye is in demand, and we hear of $1,50 being offered for round lots; distillers have commenced to take, hold again. Oats—there is a slight improvement in the local demand, but prices are unchanged; sales on wharf and track at 62 to 63c. Barley is firm, but buyers are not plenty at an advance; we hear of some lots of choice Spring being sold at $2, which is considered an outside figure.

LARD OIL—Is scarce and in steady demand, with regular sales of No. 1 Winter strained at $1,47 to $1,50.

TALLOW—Rendered, 11½.

MESS PORK—Very dull; quoted at $25,50 to $26 per barrel, for new.

LARD—Sales of prime kettle rendered at 16½c.

POTATOES—Quiet and unchanged; 70 to 75c, in bulk, by the car load, and 80 to 85c, sacked.

HOMINY—Sales at $6,50 to the trade, and $7 in a retail way.

ONIONS—Continue very dull; small sales at $1,25 to $1,50 per bushel, as to quality.

WHISKY—Sales of Highwines reported at $1 to $1,02.

FEATHERS—Sales to the trade at 75 for live geese, and 80 to 85 in a retail way.

FLOUR—Continues quiet but steady, with a fair local demand. Western Flours are still quoted at $7,50 to $8,00 for Spring, and $9,00 to $9,50 for Winter. Rye Flour, $7,75 to $8,00. The Pearl Mill quote their best brands, made of the best Wheat, as follows: Extra Family Flour, in barrels, at $9,50, and, in sacks, $9,20 per barrel; Double Extra Family, in barrels, $10,20, and, in sacks, $9,80 per barrel; Spring Wheat Flour, in barrels, $8,00, and, in sacks, $7,70 per barrel. The City Mills quote prices as follows: Extra Family, (Winter) in barrels, $9,50, and, in sacks, $9,20 per barrel; Double Extra Family, in barrels, $10,00, and, in sacks, $9,70 per barrel, and Spring, $8,00, in barrels, and $7,70, in sacks, per barrel.

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, December 2.—The dry goods market is without animation, but prices, nevertheless, are well maintained. We quote Lyman E, Heavy Brown Sheetings, at 15½c; Mystic River at 12½c; Atlantic H at 15c; do. N at 19½c; Laconia E at 12½c. Richmond Prints at 12½c for fancy; Arnold and Freeman at 11c, and Wamsutta at 9c. Glasgow Ginghams at 15c for Pemberton C. Brown Canton Flannels at 18½c; Great Falls F and D at 25c; do. bleached do. at 27c; Franklin A at 16½c. Great Falls A Grain Bags at 37½c, and Androscoggin, 35c.

Cincinnati Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, December 2.—Hogs dull and drooping, closing at $7a7,60, gross, and $9,00 9,40, net; receipts, 6,000 head. The price current gives the receipts of hogs for the week at 34,140 head, and for the season, 105,828, against 93,753 for the same time last season.

THE FASHIONS.

Fashion is not hereafter to have it all its own way. There are signs of rebellion in the atmosphere. Women are uttering protests and Emperors are issuing ukases; not that either will do any good so long as so many women have nothing else to do but dress, and not allowed to do anything else by the men who own them.

The only way to induce women to make dress a secondary consideration, is to give them something of sufficient importance to become their first. A husband does not answer the purpose, because they must dress to please him.

I am glad, however, to see the protests of the women of Stuttgardt, and I wish it had come from the women of America. There are none who could so well afford to disregard the fashion; none who could so easily and so well create fashions for themselves; none for whom the future might offer finer prospects. But this future, this opportunity for a magnificent development of womanhood they are risking for a panier, and the chance of exhibiting it, and men in their own hearts secretly rejoice, for they want women as subjects, not as rivals, and would rather pay for their amusements than for their mental and moral improvement.

SCOTCH COSTUMES.

The weather for the past two months has been all that the heart of a milliner or dressmaker could desire for the exhibition of new fall costumes, and New York ladies, with their accustomed appreciation of bright air and sunshine, have not been slow to take advantage of it. Day after day Broadway and Fifth avenue, from Twentieth to Fortieth streets, have presented an unbroken line of fair pedestrians, in all the variety of vivid coloring and picturesque designs, which characterize the fall styles. This daily promenading interferes sadly with the execution of old fashioned domestic duties. It consigns the sewing to the seamstress or the paid operator on the sewing machine, and the six o'clock dinner to Bridget; but it preserves in city women wonderful freshness and elasticity, and serves as an antidote to some of the evils caused by their late hours and unhealthy diet.

The Scotch costumes have been a brilliant feature of the promenade for the past two months. It is the first time within my recollection that that the "Tartan" has acquired a real vogue, and it undoubtedly owes its success to the new styles, which have imparted to walking costumes a picturesque and graceful character.

The Scotch costume proper is made in the McGregor plaid, and consists of a walking skirt with a flounce six inches deep, a short upper skirt, which forms a panier behind, and an apron in front, or is otherwise single and is looped up to form a modification of the panier; a round, high body, coat sleeves puffed at the top, and a cape looped up and ornamented with rosettes of the material, or made with a pointed hood and ornamented with tassels. The trimming consists of a heavy bullion fringe, made in the colors of the plaid, tassels to match, or the rosettes before mentioned.

Of course there are many variations from the legitimate programme. Some of the suits are trimmed with a fringe and rosettes in one prominent color; others are ornamented with black velvet stitched on, and round black velvet bows with ends.

The Highland costume is accompanied by a long Scotch shawl, folded lengthwise, arranged with a hood at the back, one corner thrown over the left shoulder, and the folds gathered up in a Scotch clasp.

Then there are the round Tartan cloaks with the "Colleen Bawn" capes, which are worn with all sorts of dresses, and the clan-plaid dresses, worn with waterproof cape, cloaks and cloth pelisses, all of which contribute to give a gay Scotch character to the fall promenading toilettes.

FRENCH FOLLIES.

It is quite time that sensible women took hold of fashion with a sufficient energy to prevent American stupidity from being grafted on to French folly.

Dress-makers and milliners flock to Paris from this country, when all the world of Paris, like all the world of New York, is at summer bathing-places. Paris, as a continental watering-place, is proverbially eccentric, and we have the fantastic styles, adopted as the whim of the moment, brought back and announced as legitimate French fashions.

Thus, for instance, skirts which had reached a modest and moderate walking length, have been shortened several inches, and in some instances hardly arrive at the top of the boot. The paniers, and the bend, also, which have scarcely been seen in the streets of Paris, flourish in Broadway, when they were never intended by the French inventor to do more than scare the fishes.

The "Watteau" cloak is another evidence of the willingness to indorse whatever comes along, without any reference to its fitness or adaptation to change of season or circumstances.

The Watteau robe, never intended for a cloak at all, is a long, loose sacque to which fullness is given by laying a large double box pleat at the back of the neck, which is allowed to flow out in a free and easy fashion. The garment is generally edged with a box pleated flounce, rounded at the sides, which are looped up with rosettes and finished with sleeves made tight to the elbow, and having one or more box pleated frillings below. Its proper use is as a morning robe, for which it is exceedingly well adapted, over a gored trained skirt, and although it is the prettiest in thin material, yet it can be used in cashmere, silk or wool delaine with very good effect.

But it has an unmistakable look of dishabille and demi-toilette, and the employment of such a design for velvet cloaks and heavy walking suits, is one of those absurdities which deserve to be punished by leaving the garments in the hands of the dealers.—Letter to Cincinnati Commercial.

Sumac.

The improvements recently made in grinding and preparing American sumac for market have been of a most important character, and consequently the business is increasing largely, and is already promising to become a large source of revenue to many sections of our country. The cost of starting a sumac mill, all complete, is not more than $350, and fine ground sumac will bring from $75 to $95 fer ton in England, and American sumac in England is just as valuable in the leaf as when ground.

Sumac readily commands from $1,25 to $2 per hundred pounds, at which price the gatherers can make a fair income during the season; and as the demand is large and increasing there is every prospect that the gathering and preparation of sumac will eventually prove an important branch in the manufactures of the country.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

EDUCATIONAL.—Harvard University reports the whole number of students in this institution at 1,050, of whom 529 are in the academical department, and 621 are professional students and resident graduates. The law students number 138, and the medical 208. Yale College has 724 students, of whom 519 are in the academical department. The department of the arts has 140 students.

Opening of Stewart's New Store.

The new addition to A. T. Stewart's dry goods store in Broadway, corner of Tenth street, was thrown open to the public yesterday morning. Nowhere on the globe can there be found another such establishment. The building is about 200x300 feet, and eight stories high, including the lowest floor. In the basement is the oil cloth department. The first floor proper is devoted to general dry goods, embracing the following departments: Furs, flannels, blankets, linens, white and dress goods, domestics and sheetings, ribbons, linings, calicoes, silks, gloves, velvets, embroideries, Yankee notions, laces, woolens, gentlemen's furnishing goods and hosiery. From the center of this floor, extending upward to the top of the building, is a large rotunda, surmounted by a glass dome. The scene from the galleries of this rotunda is magnificent. On every side one sees six floors, supported by ninety-six massive pillars, each bearing the monogram of Stewart wreathed with beautiful designs in iron and plaster. There are about sixty finely-wrought chandeliers on each of the lower floors. The gas-burners throughout the entire establishment are lighted by electricity. The second floor is devoted to ladies' suits, cloaks, children's under-clothing, boys' suits, upholstery, and skirts of all descriptions. The millinery department on this floor is very extensive, one would judge, from the large number of young ladies engaged with their customers. On the third floor one may find all kinds of carpets known, from the cheapest to the most costly. The fourth floor is to be occupied for manufacturing purposes. Every variety of goods will be made up here, employing more than one thousand working girls. Each floor is supplied with two dressing rooms, and four flights of stairs run from the ground to the roof. At an early hour yesterday morning visitors and customers began to flock in by the different entrances, and throughout the day thousands of people promenaded up and down the floors and stairways of this mercantile palace. A view of the rotunda is worth going miles to see, and the thoughts that arise in one's mind, on seeing such an endless display of riches, call up more than one dream of oriental splendor.

News-Gathering at the Capital.

"How do you get the news? Where do you get the news?" asked a person deeply interested in the answer.

"Why, we hunt for it; we go where it is likely to be found—to the departments, or to the White House. For instance, now, this Paraguay difficulty; Minister Washburne, and all connected with it. We shall first try to pump Fred Seward. No use going to the old man. He won't see any of us but Gobright. Probably Fred will have little to say. Then we will go to A. Johnson. He will tell us all we want to know. A. J. treats us well. There never was a time that he hadn't something he wanted "sent off." When Mr. Lincoln was President we should just as soon have thought of going to a private house for news; aye, sooner than to have gone to the Executive Mansion. It is altogether different now. The President appointed 'Data,' one of our own number, as one of his private secretaries, in order that nothing about him should be lost sight of by the people." The question was asked, "Whether Mr. Johnson did not show some preference to some particular newspaper?" "Not much; though Mr. Johnson hates the World. He has never forgotten that bitter article denouncing him the day of his inauguration. The correspondent of the Tribune is treated quite as well by him as the person who stands in the same relation to the World. I don't know how we shall get along without Mr. Johnson." Let history record that this sinking luminary will at least bear away with him to peaceful Tennessee some fond regrets of his fellow-countrymen.—Washington Letter.

SALT WITH NUTS.—Many persons suffer acute pain after eating freely of nuts, especially those that contain most oil. All nuts are difficult to digest, and much distress dyspeptics when they are eaten, as they often are, late at night. It is said that they may be made digestible, and the flavor improved at the same time, by sprinkling salt upon them, or by touching the tips into salt as we do radishes. Dr. Abernethy records a case of death that occurred in England from eating too freely of nuts, which he said would have been prevented if the person had eaten salt with the nuts, or had taken freely of it after distress had occurred from eating them.

FOR SALE--REAL ESTATE.

FOR SALE.

A FARM OF 30 ACRES, on the line of the Connellsville Railroad, 27 miles from the city, in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa. The improvements are a fine two-story brick house, with ten large rooms and hall. A large frame bank barn, with No. 1 stabling, and all other outbuildings in complete order. One of the best of orchards, of all kinds of fruit. The soil is rich new bottom. This property adjoins the village of Buena Vista, and has the advantage of churches, schools, mills, stores, &c., and will be sold at the low price of $15,000. The improvements alone are worth at least all that is asked for the property, to say nothing about the land, which is worth for garden purposes at least $10,000. For full particulars call at my office, or WILLIAM A. BELL, Esq., on the premises.

ALSO, A FARM OF 40 ACRES, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the line of the Connellsville Railroad, about 18 miles from the city. The improvements are a new stone dwelling, with eight rooms; a good barn and other outbuildings. This property is offered at a very low price. Call and secure yourself a good bargain.

ALSO, A FARM OF 120 ACRES, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., 17½ miles from the city, on the Connellsville Railroad, opposite Elrod's Station, within 30 minutes' walk of the Station. The improvements are a frame house containing four rooms and kitchen, with a good cellar underneath; very good barn and other outbuildings. A No. 1 orchard, containing about 200 fruit bearing trees, all in good condition. 90 acres cleared land, the residue in good timber, underlaid with 23 acres of coal.

ALSO, A TWO-STORY BRICK HOUSE adjoining the Borough of Elizabeth, Allegheny county, Pa., containing 4 rooms and kitchen. Lot 60 feet front by 126 back to an alley. A good Stable, wash house, bake-oven and other outbuildings. I am authorized to sell it at the low price of $1,800, on good terms.

ALSO, In the Borough of Elizabeth, a good two-story BRICK HOUSE, containing 4 rooms. Lot 120 feet square. Will be sold at the exceedingly low price of $2,500, on easy terms.

ALSO, My Farm, known by the name of "Willow Banks," situated on the Connellsville Railroad, 17 miles from the city, containing 79 ACRES, all in good condition. The improvements are a No. 1 brick house, two stories high, newly painted, containing six rooms, two halls running full length of the house. The house is situated on a beautiful knoll, is surrounded by fruit trees, shrubbery, vines and flowers, with a graded avenue running to the Youghiogheny River. Also, a large frame bank barn, smoke house, wash house, coal house, bake-oven and other outbuildings, and a never-failing well of water. Two large orchards, containing from six to seven hundred fruit trees, nearly all in good bearing condition. This farm abounds in small fruits, viz: Currants, raspberries, gooseberries, also, one large strawberry patch, which, in connexion with the richness of the soil and nearness to the city, makes it very desirable for gardening purposes. Very convenient to schools, churches, stores and blacksmith shop.

ALSO, A FARM OF 158 ACRES, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., 31 miles from the city of Pittsburgh, on the Connellsville Railroad, at Suter Station. The improvements are a common log house, a good frame barn, with stabling for ten horses; a corn crib and wagon shed; good orchard of fruit trees; fencing very good. 120 acres cleared, the residue in heavy timber land. This farm is valuable—first, for its excellent soil; secondly, its timber; and thirdly, it contains more limestone than any other farm in Pennsylvania, all accessible. The lower vein of limestone is 40 feet thick; several other veins ranging from 3½ to 6 ft. in thickness, lie under the whole farm. For particulars enquire of ELI SUTER, Esq., at Suter Station, or at my office.

ALSO, 173 ACRES, situated in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., near the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Houston Station. The improvements are a two-story frame house, with six rooms and good cellar, a frame bank barn 40 by 60 feet, and other outbuildings. There is on the place a young apple and peach orchard; one hundred and twenty acres cleared land, divided into fields of convenient size, a large portion of which are well set in clover and timothy; the residue of said tract covered with good timber. It is well watered, and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm.

ALSO, A beautifully situated tract of 60 ACRES of valuable land, under good fencing, situated in McCandless township, Allegheny county, Pa., on a township road, 7 measured miles from the Market House, Allegheny City. This tract is well adapted for a garden or dairy farm, being convenient and of easy access to either city, and near enough to the line of the Mahoning Railroad to make it very desirable for country seats, for persons doing business in the city.

ALSO, The best farm in Young township, Indiana county, Pa., 4 miles from Western Penna. R. R. at Livermore Station, containing 300 ACRES—225 acres cleared and under No. 1 fencing, as well as fine farming condition; the balance in good white oak timber. The improvements are 2 two-story frame houses, nearly new, of eight rooms each and finished basements and attics; a large bank barn 50 by 80 feet; a two-story spring house and other necessary outbuildings, all in good order; 5 acres of orchard of choice varieties of fruits; 4 feet vein of coal (now open,) underlying the whole tract, and limestone in abundance, with plenty of springs of never-failing water. Taken all to-gether—houses, fencing, soil, nice lying surface, public highway, churches, schools, mills, &c.,—I know of no more inviting and desirable tract of land in Western Pennsylvania.

ALSO, FARM AND MILLS. A small tract of 60 ACRES of very valuable land in Derry township Westmoreland county, Pa.; well fenced and in a high state of cultivation, with new frame dwelling, and other outbuildings; a new grist and saw mill complete, with two run of burrs, two bolting cloths, and all the needed fixtures, in good order, and a young orchard of choice fruits; lane is all underlaid with a six foot vein of coal, now opened and worked, at the back of the mill, and limestone in abundance. Call soon and secure a good bargain.

ALSO, FARM OF 160 ACRES, situated immediately upon the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Blairsville Intersection, 54 miles east of the city. The improvements are a two-story stone house of 8 rooms, a No. 1 barn, 45 by 65 feet, the best of stabling and other outbuildings. The land lies well, is well fenced, is in good farming order, and will be sold very cheap if applied for soon.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Open for Travel.—Long alley, in the Seventeenth ward, has been newly paved and was opened to travel yesterday.

Twentieth Street has been paved from Penn to Pike streets, and was taken off the contractor's hands yesterday, and thrown open to travel.

Vine Street.—The paving on Vine street, from Reed to Colwell, was completed yesterday, and the street will be thrown open to travel to-day.

Released.—"Governor" Keefer, committed to jail on the 28th ult., on a charge of assault and battery, was released yesterday, he having obtained the required bail.

Spring Alley, which is now under contract for grading and paving, will be completed in a few days to Twenty-ninth street. Only a square or two remains to be paved.

Heard From.—By a private dispatch received in this city yesterday, we learn that Walter Brown was seen in his beat two and a half miles below Steubenville, at half-past twelve o'clock yesterday.

Assault and Battery.—Bridget Slatterly made information before Justice Ammon yesterday, charging Wm. Beford McLaughlin with assault and battery. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Held for Trial.—Francis Gallagher, who was charged on oath of Margaret McFaden with selling liquor on Sunday, had a hearing before Justice Ammon yesterday, and was held to bail for his appearance at Court.

Miltenberger Street has been paved from Fifth avenue to St. Patricks alley, and was inspected and taken off the contractor's hands yesterday, by the City Engineer and Street Commissioner, and will be opened to travel to-day.

The Washington Reporter says: "There are hundreds of deeds in this county which should be recorded. Why are they not recorded?" This neglect may, under a recent act of Assembly, cause the holders much trouble in the future.

Alleged Perjury.—Patrick Haggerty alleges that Allen McClay committed perjury by swearing falsely in a case, in which he was one of the principals, before Mayor Blackmore a few days since. The accused was arrested and gave bail for Court.

Carriers' Report.—The following is th report of the Allegheny letter carriers for the month of November:

	Mail.	Drop.	Newspaper.
Delivered	30,726	2,662	17,389
Collected	10,924	305	439

A Needed Improvement.—Street Commissioner Hunter is having flag crossings placed on Liberty street, from Market to St. Clair, an improvement which was not made too soon. We would suggest the propriety, however, of making them wider than most of the crossings are made.

Much complaint is made that second avenue, between Smithfield and Grant streets, is almost perpetually blockaded to wagon travel owing to a break in the sewer. Is is high time that the break was repaired, and in such manner as to preclude any possibility of complaint hereafter.

Illegal Liquor Selling.—Daniel Grover made three informations before the Mayor yesterday charging H. H. Neeland with illegal liquor selling. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing, after which he made information charging Grover with felonious assault and battery, who in turn was arrested and held to bail for a hearing.

New Crossing.—A new crossing is to be placed on Smithfield street at its junction with Liberty. The stones for the same are already on the ground and will be laid in a few days. This is only one of the many improvements made by Street Commissioner Hunter during the present year. He is one of the most active and energetic of the city officials.

Charlotte Street in the Seventeenth ward is now under contract, and the work of grading is progressing rapidly. At one point a considerable cut had to be made for nearly a square. It has been completed, however, and the curb have nearly all been set. The paving will be commenced in a few days if the weather remains open so that gravel can be obtained.

A Young Hopeful.—Thomas Edwards, a gardener at Oakland, made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging W. H. White, his step-son, with larceny. It appears that the boy stole a coat and vest and left home, but returned again yesterday morning, after the information had been made, and appeared so repentant that the step-father relented and withdrew the charge.

Leg Broken.—Mr. James Benham, a brakeman on a shifting train at the outer depot of the Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, met with a serious accident on Monday evening, by which his leg was broken. He was standing at the rear of his train, when an engine backed down and struck him, breaking his leg. He was removed to his residence and medical aid summoned, when the fractured limb was reduced.

J. J. Fetzer & Bro., active, enterprising and energetic business gentlemen, have just purchased the store formerly owned by M. Kirchartz, Butler street, near the stables of the Citizens' Passenger Railway, Lawrenceville, where they will carry on a first class family grocery store. Their stock is large and finely assorted, while their prices are very reasonable. We bespeak for them a large share of public patronage.

Bates & Bell, No. 21 Fifth avenue, have just received a large and well selected stock of Dry Goods and Dress Goods, which they offer to their customers at the very lowest rates. The high reputation this house enjoys is justly merited, and the proprietors are determined to sustain it by adhering strictly to the principles upon which the business has always been conducted—dealing honestly and fairly with all.

Wife Beaters.—Virginia Smith made information before Justice Sailsbury yesterday, charging her husband, Alfred Smith, with assault and battery, alleging that he beat and abused her in a shameful manner. Also, Margaret Speeler, at the same time and place, made information, charging her husband, John Speeler, with a like offense, alleging that he pulled her hair. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused.

Alleged Aggravated Assault.—Christian Punt made information before Alderman Strain yesterday, against George Johnson for aggravated assault and battery. The accused is charged with throwing a stone at the deponent's son, aged fifteen years, which struck the boy, knocking him down and breaking his leg. The accused was arrested at his residence, corner of Kirkpatrick and Reed streets, in the neighborhood of which the assault is alleged to have been committed. He was held for trial.

The "dull times" complained of by many of the business men in this city do not seem to have any effect upon the business at the well known and popular dry goods and dress goods establishment of Bates & Bell, No. 21 Fifth avenue. The continual throng of ladies that visit this house, and the amount of goods they sell, would indicate that the business in that line was unusually brisk. The immense stock of goods to be found at this establishment affords the most ample facilities for customers to make their purchases upon the most satisfactory terms.

Pennsylvania Railroad Business.—The records kept at the Pennsylvania Railroad office show that during the month of November, just closed, 36,341 eight wheel freight cars moved over the Middle Division of the road, being 5,947 in excess of the corresponding month of last year. This shows a gratifying increase of business.

Annoying Amusement.—Margaret Smith alleges that Robert John amused himself yesterday by throwing stones at the door of her residence, and when she remonstrated with him she was assailed with every opprobrious epithet which the fun-loving Robert could call to mind. The parties reside in Birmingham and a warrant was issued by Alderman McMasters for the arrest of Rebert.

Imported Cattle.—Mr. William Semple, the well-known dry goods merchant, yesterday received from Scotland three of the famous Ayrshires cows and one bull, which he purchased while abroad with a view of experimenting with breeds at his already well stocked farm. This breed has ever borne a high character for milk, yoke and shamble, and we trust that Mr. Semple's enterprise will be well rewarded.

Twenty-Ninth Street is being paved from Penn to Liberty. The curb has been set, the grading done, and the paving was commenced yesterday. This will be a decided improvement, as it will relieve in a great measure the heavy travel on Penn street from that point westward, affording a convenient outlet to Liberty street, which is now one of the best cobble stone paved streets in the city, from Twentieth to Twenty-ninth street.

Masonic Election.—An election for officers of Zerubabel chapter, H. R. A., was held Tuesday evening at the hall, Fifth avenue, with the following result: M. E. H. P., D. P. Estep; M. E. K., W. F. Lang; M. E. S., W. D. Spiking; Secretary, Thos. W. Wright; Treasurer, J. Shidle. After the election, the entire party adjourned to M'Ginley's, Fifth avenue, where a first rate supper was prepared. The feast was well enjoyed, and considerable fun and hilarity prevailed among the guests.

Dispensary Report for November.—The Dispensary Department of the Homœpathic Hospital continues well attended. The report of the physician surgeon for November shows an increase over the previous month, and over the corresponding period last year, there having been two hundred and sixty-one prescriptions issued to persons unable to pay for medicine or treatment. The Dispensary is open from eleven to twelve o'clock every day except Sunday, and is located on Second avenue, above Smithfield street.

A Savage Customer.—Officers John Wad and James Blondin of Alderman McMasters police, made information before that official yesterday against John McCune for surety of the peace, and interferene with them in the discharge of their duties. The deponents went to the residence of the accused to make a levy, when they allege McCune attacked and drove them from the premises, and threatened to cut their heads off with a trowel if they attempted to return. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the furious man.

The Lecture To-Night.—Already a large number of desirable seats in Lafayette Hall have been secured for the lecture to-night, and many equally choice ones yet remain unsold and can be obtained at the Library Rooms, corner of Penn and Sixth (late St. Clair) street. We hope none of our readers will permit the opportunity to see and hear the brave General Kilpatrick pass unappreciated. He is a splendid talker, and handles his subject—"Sherman's March to the Sea"—in the most pleasing and interesting manner.

Hindoo Life.—Rev. Andrew Gordon, ten years a missionary in India, assisted by his daughter, will give an exhibition at the Seventh avenue M. P. Church this evening, in illustration of life among the Hindoos. Mr. Gordon and his daughter will appear in full Hindoo dress, will converse in Hindoostanee, sing Hindoo songs, and exhibit interesting and instructive scenes in Hindoo life. The exhibition will comprise idols, curiosities and dresses from India, and among the manners illustrated will be the manner of courtship. The exhibition will not only be novel, but decidedly interesting and instructive.

Serious Accident.

A. Kloman, Esq., of the firm of Buerkle, Kloman & Co., Sixteenth ward, met with a serious accident on Monday, which may prove fatal. Mr. K. was assisting some workmen to raise a rafter in a new building, when the rafter fell, striking him on the head and shoulder, cutting a fearful gash on the head and producing concussion of the brain. The injured man was carried to his residence and D. H. H. Clark summoned to attend him. He was improving slightly at last accounts.

Charged With Fraud.

M. Verner made information yesterday, before Alderman McMasters, against Geo. Naw and George Free, for fraud. The deponent alleges that the defendants gave him a judgement note some time since, and about the time the note was due closed out most of the goods contained in their store, and moved the remainder out of the State, with the intention to defraud their creditors. The accused, at the time the note was given, were partners in a store located at Oil City. A warrant for their arrest was issued.

Destruction of a Saw Mill.

Yesterday morning a fire broke out in the saw mill of Mr. John McKee, located near McKee's Rocks, which resulted in the total destruction of the mill. The conflagration was first discovered by the fireman, upon his arrival at the mill in the morning to start the fire. The mill was rented by Messrs. Kneiss & Co., and the loss is said to be about ten thousand dollars, upon which there is no insurance. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, as there was no fire in the mill last evening.

Highway Robbery.

Notwithstanding the vast amount of wickedness, villainy and crime which at present abounds in our city, the villains are not all within the city limits. On Monday evening last a bold highway robbery was perpetrated in the usually quiet borough of Elizabeth. Christian Geauf, a tobacconist, who resides in that borough, was attacked by two men about nine o'clock, while returning from his store to his dwelling, and robbed of one hundred and seventy-five dollars. He was knocked down and considerably bruised, but not seriously injured.

The Liberty Street Accident.

The jury empannelled to inquire after what manner, &c., and investigate the facts connected with the death of John Collins, the boy who was killed on Liberty street by being run over by a freight train on Saturday morning, met at the Coroner's office yesterday morning at eleven o'clock and concluded their labors. A number of witnesses were examined, after which the jury returned the following verdict:

That the deceased, John Collins, came to his death by being run over by the freight train of the Pennsylvania Railroad, on Liberty, near Hay street, on November 28th, 1868, while attempting to get on the engine of said train. We exhonorate the employés of the train, but censure the officials of the road for not having a person walking in front of the train. We further insist that the Company employ an active man, whose only duty shall be to walk ahead of the trains on Liberty street.

ALMOST A VICTIM.

Attempted Suicide—A Dose of Laudanum—The Attempt Frustrated.

Considerable excitement was created at the Union Depot yesterday afternoon by the announcement that a young woman had attempted self-destruction by taking a quantity of laudanum while sitting in the ladies' waiting room. It seems that the first discovery of the attempt was made by a lady whose attention had been attracted by the movements of the would-be victim, and who, supposing her to be sick, made inquiries, and discovered the state of the case from the answer given. The lady quickly informed the officers in charge of the depot, and in a short time Dr. Hamilton, employed by the Company, was in attendance. The woman professed to be tired of life and requested that she might be allowed to die, but, notwithstanding all her protestations, the physician proceeded with his duty, and in about an hour after, by the aid of the usual appliances in such cases, the patient was relieved and placed in a fair way of recovery. She gave her name as Agnes Owens, and stated that she came from New York originally, but had arrived on Saturday last from Smith's Ferry, about forty miles below the city. We learned from the officer at the depot that she had been back and forward to the depot since Saturday, and seemed to be in great trouble in regard to her baggage, which she had pledged as payment for her passage money from Smith's Ferry to Pittsburgh. She told one of the officers that she was the wife of a soldier who had been killed in the army during the war and had left her without any means of support. When she started from New York, she did so with the intention of securing a situation as a domestic with a family residing at Smith's Ferry, but on arriving, she discovered that the situation had been filled, and she was thus thrown on the world. Hearing of a place at East Liberty she came here, pledging her baggage as she stated. When she arrived at East Liberty, she was again disappointed. Coming to Pittsburgh she finally secured a situation with a family residing on Fourth street, but after remaining a day or two she had been sent away for some reason, which she refused to give. She wandered back and forward to the depot, for several days, and on Tuesday evening it is said, slept in the ladies' waiting room, having no other shelter. Being tired of life, at last she concluded to put an end to her existence, and made the attempt as stated. This was the story she told at first; but after she had recovered somewhat, and while on her way in charge of an attendant to Mercy Hospital, to which place she was taken, she altered the story in some important particulars, which makes the truth of either rather doubtful. She stated to the attendant accompanying her that her husband had died in New York about six months since, and that she then started on her travels, as previously stated. After procuring the place on Fourth street she staid there a day or so, but had about concluded to give that place up, as it was not altogether to her liking. While on her way to the depot yesterday, to get her baggage, she concluded she might as well be rid of life as to live in constant trouble, and in furtherance of this design called at a drug store on the corner of Penn and Walnut streets and purchased an ounce of laudanum. Going away from the store she went to St. Patrick's church and told the Priest, who, as soon as he discovered her design, forbid her executing it. The Priest also searched her clothing to get the laudanum, but failed to find it, as she had hid it in her stocking. He then accompanied her to the store and asked the clerk in regard to the sale of the laudanum, who acknowledged that he had sold her the amount stated. Finding it useless to parley further, the Priest left her after admonishing her again not to carry out her criminal intention. Upon leaving the Priest, and while walking towards the depot, she swallowed the laudanum, arriving at the depot a short time after, with the result as stated.

The state of the case seems to be that the woman is in trouble, the cause of which, however, she refuses to tell, and that in a moment of depression she made the attempt on her life, which was afterwards regretted. She seems to be about twenty-five years of age, with an expression not at all ill-looking, and is withal one in whose mind most people would have thought the idea of self-destruction had never entered. When taken away from the depot to the hospital she was very much better, and the physician considers her in a fair way of recovery. It is fortunate for her that the suicidal attempt was quickly discovered, as the case, if it had been neglected a short time longer, would have added another to the list of those who have labored under the mistaken idea that by forcibly "shuffling off this mortal coil" they will put an end to all their troubles.

An Unwelcome Visiter.

Bridget Murphy made information yesterday, before Alderman McMasters, against Michael Mills for surety of the peace. Bridget resides with her husband at No. 7 Penn street. Her husband is employed in a blast furnace and is detained from his home until midnight. On Sunday evening Bridget states she retired to bed and left the door unlocked so that her husband might get in the house without disturbing her slumbers. About half-past ten o'clock she heard a rapping at the door, and thinking that her husband was outside she called from her couch and directed him to walk in, when in stepped a personage which proved not to be her husband but Michael Mills. After thus gaining an entrance Michael, it is alleged, unsheathed a horrible looking knife and swore that he intended to kill her, and that it was for that express purpose he had entered. Bridget made good use of her voice, which aroused some of her neighbors and caused the unwelcome visitor to beat a hasty retreat. Upon a further consideration of the dire threat Bridget came to the conclusion that her life was in danger, and hence the suit. Michael was arrested and gave bail for trial.

An Oversight.

A great error was committed by some one, we do not know whom, when Second avenue was paved, from the School House to the Birmingham bridge. Not in paving the street, however, as that was well done, but the error consists in not having provided drainage or outlets for the water flowing from the numerous springs along the road. The ground over which the road was made is of a "spouty" nature, and numerous springs rise immediately under the road bed and along its side next to the hill, causing a continual flow of water under the paving, which has already injured the street to a great extent, notwithstanding nearly $200 dollars have been expended in repairing it since the new pavement was put down, only about three months since. Some means of conveying the water away other than now exists, will have to be adopted ere long, or the entire street will have to be repaved.

Atlantic Monthly, and Our Young Folks.

Elsewhere will be found the announcement of Fields, Osgood & Co., publishers of these excellent magazines. The Atlantic enjoys pre-eminence in magazine literature. It has always been conducted with signal ability. Notwithstanding the number of monthlies competing for public favor, it is widely circulated. "Our Young Folks" is the paragon of monthlies for young people. It combines so many excellencies that it is just the kind of a magazine for the family circle. Entertainment, amusement and instruction, fill its pages, and the illustrations are of a superior character. It will be seen that the arrangements for 1869 exceed any former period in the history of both magizines.

"Three Rougish Chaps Together."

"Three rougish chaps"—(confidence operators)—fell into mishaps at the Union Depot yesterday. It seems that the party, consisting of two men and a little boy, arrived in the city on Tuesday evening from the west, and yesterday morning they commenced operations in the depot, but were unfortunately blocked in their game before it had progressed very far. Officer Havis noticing one of them in close conversation with a rather green looking countryman, at once suspected what was going on and kept a sharp eye on the party. In a short time the countryman and his new found friend left the office, followed by the officer. They proceeded to a saloon on Liberty street, a square or two below the depot, which they entered, and whither they were tracked in a few minutes by the watchful official, who found the sharper treating his country friend to a dish of oysters. The conversation was still carried on briskly by the sharper, and the officer was enabled to catch the words "bonds," freight," and "just shipped," as they fell from the lips of the oily scoundrel. The countryman, however, seemed not to agree with his friend on all points, as was evinced by sundry shakings of the head and other signs indicative of dissent. The sharper by this time noticed the watchfulness of the officer, and at once feeling that he was suspected dropped his game. After chatting a few minutes longer the two left the saloon, still pursued by the officer, who finally saw the countryman safely landed at the Depot and clear of the sharper, who had been foiled in his designs. A short time afterward the officers at the Depot were made acquainted with the character of the whole party, all of whom, however, took care to keep out of the way. One of them, the principal, is a medium sized man, light complexioned, with light whiskers, and wore a dark brown overcoat, black vest and pants, and black Kossuth hat. The other man of the party was dark complexioned, had black curly hair, black mustache and imperial, and was dressed in light pants, box shaped coat and black slouch hat. The little boy looked to be about fourteen years of age, and wore a cap, with overcoat and dark pants. The whole party, it is supposed, however, left the city last evening. They were too closely watched, and found the field in this place too well guarded. Perhaps they will try their operations in some other locality in this vicinity, and if so the descriptions given above will be of use.

Coroner's Inquests.

The following inquests were held during the month of November, by Coroner Wm. Clawson:

Alexander Williamson, a laborer, killed at Lloyd & Black's rolling mill by being caught between the rolls; J. P. Heils, fireman on the McDonald accommodation on the Pan Handle Railroad, killed by collision; Mrs. Christian Bendy, who died of intemperance in Allegheny City; Frank Stein, who died of starvation in Birmingham; Catherine Monaghan, run over and killed by a coal wagon on Gibson street, old Eighth ward; D. B. Jones, brakeman on Pan Handle Railroad, killed by wrecking of a stone train; J. D. Ears, shot and killed by Wm. Groves, at Temperanceville; Ben. Davis, a little boy, run over and killed by car No. 2 of the Birmingham Passenger Railway; James Martin, residing on Forbes street, who died suddenly of heart disease; Michael Gilbridge, drowned at Pine Run; Joseph Rang, colored, drowned off the tow boat Monitor at Haysville; John Woodall, engineer on the Pan Handle Railroad, killed by jumping from the train to avoid collision; John Collins, a little boy, run over and killed by a locomotive on Liberty street, (this inquest will be concluded to-day); Christian F. Bauman, death by suicide at Pine Creek; James S. Palmer, death by suicide; George Muehlegrast, burned to death in the fire at Strub & Zahringer's Starch Factory at Glendale Station, on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad. Total, sixteen.

A Nuisance.

Several times within the past three months residents on Second avenue, between Cherry alley and Grant street, and the public generally, have been annoyed by the bursting of the water pipe in that locality, yet the proper method of remedying the evil has not been adopted. The occasion of the pipe bursting is in consequence of its being rotten or worn out, and the only proper remedy is to replace it with a new pipe. This, however, is a matter for the Superintendent of the Water Works, who is presumed to know his business, but the fact is patent to all who have examined it that a new pipe is needed. On at least two former occasions, within the time mentioned above, repairs have been made by replacing the bursted section of pipe with a new one, and we presume that will be the method of treating the present case. The street between the points named has been barricaded since Monday last, and no move has been made towards repairing it.

Chief of Police.

It now seems to be pretty well settled that Alderman Joseph A. Butler, of the old Sixth ward, will be our next Chief of Police. There is no man in the city, perhaps, more generally known, or whose character for integrity stands higher. He is now serving his second term as Alderman, and in connection with his magisterial duties has for a number of years been Collector of Taxes. Having so far rendered himself worthy of the entire confidence of his fellow-citizens—and those who know him best esteem him highest—we consider that the Mayor elect, Mr. Brush, has made a wise selection for Chief of Police, as we confidently believe Alderman Butler will discharge the duties of the position faithfully and honestly.

Overcoats in Demand.

The recent "cold snap," it appears, has been felt by the sneak thieves, as well as by the more respectable portion of the community, and has had a tendency to cause them to turn their attention to a line of business whereby to fortify themselves against the cold, by wearing comfortable and suitable clothing for the season. Tuesday, between eleven o'clock a. m. and ten p. m., some enterprising gentleman entered a boarding house at No. 49 Third avenue, kept by W. Taggart, and appropriated four overcoats, the property of the boarders. One of the coats was a brown Melton cloth, valued at $50; one a black pilot cloth worth $40, and the other two blue chinchilla, valued at $50 each. A black hat and pair of gloves were also taken.

Allegheny Mayor's Office.

The following is the record of the business of the Allegheny Mayor's office for the month of November:

Disorderly cases, sixty; drunkenness, sixty-one; vagrancy, six; breach of city ordinances, ten; assault and battery, five; larceny, eight; robbery, one; keeping bawdy house, one; fornication and bastardy, one, (parties married); surety of the peace, one; total, one hundred and fifty-four. Of these forty-three were sent to jail, twenty-one discharged and sixty-three paid fines.

Allegheny Street Improvements.

The following is Street Commissioner McGraw's report of the street improvements during the month of November:

A Home Incident.

Those who passed through the Union Depot on Tuesday afternoon and night might have seen a pretty, poor, delicate, thinly clad woman sitting on one of the waiting chairs, and eagerly staring into the faces of all who passed her, with great large tear stained eyes, begging in eloquent, unspoken words for cheer and comfort. She was nigh being a mother, a woman with all of woman's timidity, backward, afraid to speak out for aid, afraid to whisper her condition and want to the hundreds of her own sex who swept by her in silks and satins, afraid to ask some one to care for her, provide her shelter and food. She was a stranger in the great city, had no friend, no acquaintance among the tens of thousands who crowded around happy hearthstones. She was alone, all alone in the world, leaning on God's arm for support. There were no avenues open to her save the broad one of vice, and against that her spirit revolted. She spent that long wretched night in the depot where she was safe from harm. When morning dawned she, weak and feeble, hungry, tired and sick, ventured forth to find employment and shelter. She shrank back, oft after she had formed a prayer for aid, from approaching the close muffled merchant who hurried past her to his palace of profit, and she could not stay the mechanic in his rapid march to the workshop. Everybody appeared to her to wear an iron mask, and time after time she would venture to make known her condition, but at the moment of utterance the anguished heart failed her and the person to whom she would have addressed herself was beyond her call. Thus she passed from square to square, from street to street, famishing, wretched and miserable. Noon came on, and still she was a wanderer. No door had opened to her, no avenue save that of vice intervened betwixt her and death. With a sudden power, a quickly formed resolution, a dangerous desperation, she resolved on an awful thing—on death at her own hands. With a few pennies yet in her possession she determined to buy a home in the grave, rest in eternity, happiness in death. She purchased the fatal poison and between two prayers swallowed the dose and resigned herself to the consequences.

Reader this is true. Every word is true. It is a chapter of life cut out of the volume that is daily being written at our doors. Think you, was not this poor, broken-hearted, suffering woman, not sent by a wise Providence just at this time, to arouse us to a sense of Christian duty, to the obligation resting on each and every one of us to shield the weak, comfort the poor, take care of the homeless? God's ways are mysterious, and this incident may with much force appeal to the generous and charitable for the support and encouragement of the Fair for Fallen Women now being held at City Hall. If we had such an institution as that proposed by the ladies now engaged in that philanthropic work, there would be no occasion for helpless females strolling alone and friendless about our streets, without a place of shelter outside of the awful brothel of iniquity. Hundreds of wretched and miserable females would be saved from ruin in a single year, and made fit to occupy proud places in society.

Let the Fair then be well patronized. Everybody can afford to pay the entrance fee of ten cents, and every person can afford to purchase some little articles from the booths, which will help swell the proceeds.

A Narrow Escape.

An incident occurred in Mansfield, on Tuesday evening—we say incident because it was not an accident, but on the other hand the legitimate result of gross carelessness—by which Mr. William Ford, of the firm of Ford & Green, grocers, was seriously injured, and narrowly escaped fatal injury or, perhaps, instant death. Mr. Ford, it appears, was engaged in attaching a weight to one of his doors in order to make it close, using for that purpose an old bomb shell which had been laying about the establishment for several years. The hole in the shall had become filled with dirt, and to clean it out Mr. Ford, with a carelessness that seems incredible, heated a poker red hot, as we are informed, and thrusted the heated end into the hole. An explosion instantly followed, and a piece of the shell struck Mr. Ford in the right thigh and passed through, tearing the flesh badly, and producing a serious and ugly wound, though fortunately the bone was not broken. The force of the explosion threw Mr. Ford down, and in his fall he struck his face against a corner of the stove, receiving a very severe cut, which, it is feared, will destroy one of his eyes. A barrel of oil was standing near by, and a piece of the shell passed entirely through this. The oil, as it ran out, caught fire, and the utmost difficulty was experienced in saving the building from burning down. The force of the explosion shattered all the windows in the room. The injured man will probably recover.

A Mean Scamp.

On Monday night Wm. Nanz, a butcher, residing in Temperanceville, deserted his family and eloped with his wife's sister. It appears that his wife, a few months since, was called to Germany, her native land, on important business, and her sister was left to take charge of affairs in the house during her absence. During her absence her husband and the sister referred to became very intimate, and the intimacy culminated in an elopement, as stated, Monday night. The wife, on her return from Germany, having come in possession of a considerable sum of money, appropriated it to the payment of debts against the property of her husband, and notwithstanding she had learned of the intimacy between her husband and sister, was disposed to forgive him. Before leaving, it is stated that he mortgaged the property to its full value, leaving his wife and two children in destitute circumstances.

Malicious, Very.

Wilhelmina Falkenbridge alleges that Wm. Barclay entered the saloon kept by her husband, at No. 1,089 Penn street, in the Twelfth ward, and proceeded to smash things, the fragments of seven broken bottles and four large tumblers giving evidence of his energy in the work, added to the smashing of the furniture. William is also charged with the wasting of four quarts of whisky and one quart of rum, by spilling the liquid upon the floor—that is so much of them as he could not spill into himself. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

It is strange to see with what carelessness some invalids attend to their health. They will procure a box of PLANTATION BITTERS, which ought to be used up in a month or six weeks, and upon inquiry it is found that they have used only only two or three bottles. Some days they have used it according to the directions, and others have not touched it. The whole trial has been irregular, and of course a less favorable result has come from their use. If it be true that "what is worth doing at all is worth doing well," how emphatically is it true in matters relating to the health. A few bottles of PLANTATION BITTERS have often wrought wonders, while in other instances disease has only been subdued after weeks of resistance.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. TH.S.T.F.
